BLOOD RULE IN GERMANY OFFICIAL DICTUM

Present Government Plans To Crush Monarchists And Communists

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—Any attempt by extremists, either monarchists or communists, against law and order and against the republican government will be put down ruthlessly, if necessary, with a policy of blood and iron, Wilhelm Sollmann, new minister of the interior, declared today, in an exclusive interview with International News Service. He continued:

"The present government of Chancellor Stresemann will prove stronger than any of its predecessors, since the republican government was established. They ment was established. They who chy or a dictatorship preparatory to a future monarchy, as well as those who wish to establish a soviet state, will burn their fingers badly if they try to translate their wish into action.

Leaders Give Views

"The coalition government, including the leaders for the German people's party and Chancellor Stresemann, consider a democratic republican form of government is the only one under which Germany can live."

Herr Sollmann refrained from violent denunciation of the French policy. His remarks, to a large extent, bore out the belief that the new government will make a supreme effort to come to an understanding with France upon the Ruhr reparations issue.

"Political activity may come when a declaration from the government shall have found some official echo from France," Sollmann said.

"The cabinet will safeguard all foreign rights in the German republic, but feels itself free from any nationalistic tendencies. True, the cabinet endorses passive resistance by the Rhine and Ruhr populations, but all attempts at criminal sabotage or other acts of violence against the occupying troops will be contested as vigorously as lies within the government's power."

Reverting to international policies, Sollman, upon whose shoulders rests the responsibility for keeping the "home front" intact, stated the nationalistic parties had been putting out wild stories and creating an impression abroad that the new government is weak.

"True," he continued, "our real decisive improvement in international conditions is impossible as long as the Ruhr struggle lasts and the reparations questions remain unsettled, but the government is determined not to let Germany bleed to death from internal hemorrhages."

Mexico's Recognition Takes Another Step

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico approached one step nearer today with the return to Washington of John Barton Payne, and Charles Beecher Warren, who will report to President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes on their conference at Mexico City with representatives of the Obregon Government.

The commissioners have in their possession a copy of the Warren-Roa Agreement signed at Mexico City last week, which guarantees the property rights of American citizens in Mexico against confiscation. This agreement is understood to be the basis for recognition of the Mexican government by the United States but no decision will be reached by the administration until there has been an opportunity to study the official report of the Mexico City negotiations.

Arrangements were being made at the State Department this morning for a conference between President Coolidge and the American commissioners.

LASKER IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States shipping board, who recently returned from England where he went as official representative of the board, although he resigned some weeks ago, today became a Chicago business man again. He resumed his duties as president of Lord & Thomas, prominent advertising firm.

Mushrooms Grow 6 Inches High In Desert Rain

J. F. GASSER, who is connected with Goodell & Co., investment brokers and realtors, 113 East Broadway, returned from Imperial Valley last weekend with a wonderful tale of mushrooms which grow on the desert. One of the perennial rains in the vicinity of the Salton Sea Saturday morning caused a wonderful growth of the epicurean tidbits, according to the Glendale man who says Seeley and El Centro saw their first summer rain in several years on Friday afternoon during an electrical storm.

J. W. BURTON IS CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known Realty Man Fails to Regain Strength After Operation

The death of J. W. M. Burton, 1544 West Tenth street, well-known local realty man, occurred at a local hospital Sunday, August 19, 1925, at the age of 52 years, following an operation for appendicitis which he was forced to undergo on August 13, and from the effects of which, in his enfeebled state of health, he was unable to rally.

Mr. Burton had been in poor health since five years ago, when he was injured in an accident in which his automobile was struck by a Pacific Electric car, and in which his two daughters were killed. In the latter part of last year he suffered several attacks of "flu," which are said to have left his heart in a weakened condition that greatly militated against his recovery from the shock of his recent operation.

Manages Railway

Mr. Burton was born in Burnsville, N. C., June 11, 1871, and entered the engineering profession, establishing a reputation that led to his selection ten years ago as general manager of the Glendale & Montrose railway when the company extended its line from Verdugo park to La Crescenta. Mr. Burton, together with Charles D. Shattuck, 320 Myrtle street, and now connected with the Glendale Mill company, built the extension of the line and also conducted a survey of a further proposed extension from Montrose to Altadena, which was never completed, owing largely to the outbreak of the war.

After severing his connection with the railway company, Mr. Burton became interested in the development of this region along other lines, and, in company with Robert Walton, then a resident of Glendale, he was largely instrumental in opening up much of the country where Montrose now stands. As a direct outcome of his operations in this business he formed a partnership with C. L. Chandler, maintaining the business at 125 West Broadway under the style of Burton & Chandler, and handling a large volume of business constantly from the day he launched the new firm seven years ago. Recently they have operated independently.

Widow Survives

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ellen E. Burton, Mr. Burton is also survived by a cousin, W. T. Burton, of the Burton Realty Company, 200½ West Broadway, Glendale.

During all the years of his residence in Glendale Mr. Burton lorked steadily but unobtrusively for the advancement of his adopted city, and his influence was felt in many of the movements that were started for the benefit of the community. He was active in fraternal circles, having advanced to membership in the Knights Templars in the Masonic order in Murat Lodge No. 14, at Albion, Michigan, and also belonging to the Elks' lodge, and his character was such that he attracted a world of friends who held a deep and abiding affection for him and who admired the staunch character and high ideals that always animated him in everything that he undertook.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow, Tuesday, August 21, 1923, at the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn by Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church. Kiefer & Eyerick, 305 East Broadway, are in charge of the arrangements.

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Aug. 20.—Miss Zetta Hill, English swimmer, who started at 7 o'clock this morning to try to swim the English Channel, gave up when eight miles out, owing to exhaustion.

FOOD PRICE UP IN U. S., LOW HERE

While Other Centers Report 5 Pct. Increase; Local Living Cost Decreased

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Food prices are still going up.

The department of labor announced today that American consumers had to pay 2 per cent more for food in July than in June.

During July the average family expenditure for food increased as follows:

Columbus, 6 per cent; Boston, Chicago, Fall River, Manchester, N. H., Milwaukee, Peoria and Springfield, Ill., 5 per cent; Buffalo, Butte, Denver, Indianapolis, New Haven, 3 per cent; Bridgeport, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Salt Lake City, Savannah, Scranton, Washington, D. C., 2 per cent; Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Omaha, Portland, Ore., St. Paul, 1 per cent; Baltimore, Houston, Little Rock, Memphis, Mobile, Newark, Pittsburgh, Richmond, St. Louis, Seattle, less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

There was a decrease of 1 per cent in Los Angeles and Louisville, and of less than five-tenths of 1 per cent in Charleston, Kansas City, Norfolk and San Francisco.

Of eighteen articles on which the department secures monthly prices, potatoes showed the largest increase amounting to 31 per cent, while bacon, cheese and vegetable lard showed the smallest, amounting to less than five-tenths of 1 per cent. Bananas shared with rib roast and plate beef in an increase of 2 per cent over June prices.

Sixteen food articles declined in price, cabbage heading the list with a decline of 13 per cent, while tea and coffee decreased less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

Shorthand Speeders Wear Out Sputters

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Two hundred and fifty delegates to the National Short Hand Writers Convention met here today to worry because everyone doesn't talk faster. When they take dictation they are always away ahead of the dictator. They know what he's going to say before he does and they have their note book crammed full of those funny doodads that resemble typhoid germs. They even know when he's going to make a mistake and they correct it in advance. Then they're hot for action.

Just to show how fast they are, the short hand sharks had a contest today. Before the contest they herded a group of readers off into a quiet hotel room and let them practice talking fast. At the contest they had to have someone who could sputter out 280 words a minute. The stenographers hardly bothered with a speaker who talked less than 280 words a minute.

SHIP BOUND FOR L. A. IS WRECKED

Freighter Dakotan Sends Out S O S From Magdalena Bay; Aid Sent

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—The freighter Dakotan is pounding to pieces on the rocky shores south of here, in the neighborhood of Magdelena Bay, according to a wireless report received here today in the form of the S. O. S. from the stricken ship by the Radio Corporation of America.

The Standard Oil Company tanker Charles Pratt reported having picked up the Dakotan's distress message and was proceeding to its location. The tanker had been standing by the Dakotan within a few hours, officials said. The Dakotan, with a crew of 43 men and in charge of Captain Carlisle, was engaged in the coastal trade and left here Saturday for New York and other Atlantic ports.

The Dakotan owned and operated by the Hawaiian Steamship company is of 4014 tons net. The United States Transport Henderson, on which the late President Harding made his ill-fated trip to Alaska is speeding to the stricken Dakotan, whose position is given as in a dangerous section of the rocky coast near San Lazaro, Mex.

Later intercepted messages sent out by Captain Carlisle said that the Dakotan with a punctured bottom, caused by going on a sharp rock, is rapidly filling with water, which is at a depth of 18 feet in both the forward and after holds. The Dakotan is said to be aground in 20 feet of water with a heavy surf pounding over the stern. The water has evidently not reached the engine room, mariners say, as the wireless is still in operation.

U. S. Ship Afire

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The United States Shipping Board Steamer President Grant arrived today at Kobe, Japan, with her cargo afire, according to wireless dispatches to the Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce here. The information contained no details except that the fire was still burning.

Burglars Foiled in Attempt to Open Safe

An attempt to rob the safe of the Calla Lily Creamery at 1245 East Windsor road last night was reported to the police department.

When A. R. Read, one of the drivers, entered the office at 3 o'clock this morning to make final preparations to depart upon his route, he was surprised to find that the knob had been broken off the dial of the safe. This had been left lying upon the floor. The attempt to get into the safe was unsuccessful. It is thought that the knob was broken off with a hammer and chisel under the impression that the combination would then be released. It is believed that the attempted robbery was interrupted.

Coal Commission Continues Parley To Avert Fuel Crisis

Coal men, miners and operators, now know that President Calvin Coolidge is determined to prevent the threatened anthracite strike September 1. George Otis Smith, member of the federal coal commission, called a new parley between miners and operators after a lengthy conference with Coolidge.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 20.—The opening conference of miners and operators in an effort to reach an agreement upon which a new working agreement may be reached, was postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon, until representatives of the United Mine Workers' Union and the anthracite operators met here. Wages, it was understood, would be the first subject to be considered. The miners will ask that day labor be granted a $2 a day increase. Contract labor, it was stated, would demand 20 per cent over their present figure.

SEEK 25 BODIES IN HOTEL RUINS

$200,000 Blaze Destroys Big Canadian Resort With 9 Known Dead

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 20. — The ruins of Wawa hotel, one of Ontario's most fashionable summer resorts, are being searched today for the bodies of 25 persons still missing after the fire early Sunday, in which nine persons are known to have lost their lives. Many of the missing are believed to be Americans. The loss was estimated at $200,000.

Among the dead are three Americans:

Miss K. Rogers, of Cleveland; Miss Elizabeth Crogan, of Cincinatti and an unidentified woman, also believed to be an Ohioan.

Miss Kitty Carroll of New York City, is in the hospital in a precarious condition as the result of jumping from the roof of the hotel.

The fire ranks among the worst in the history of the province.

Sparks from the huge fireplace are believed to have ignited the wooden structure and started the blaze. An inquiry was under way today.

About 300 persons, nearly one hundred of them Americans, were guests at the hotel when the fire broke out. Many fled in their nightclothing.

With no fire-fighting apparatus available, the fire burned itself out.

AUTOS CRASH ON STREETS OF CITY

Woman Taken to Hospital Is Able to Return Home After Treatment

The week-end saw several automobile collisions in this vicinity.

Miss Fannie Whiting of 1015 East Palmer avenue was badly shaken up when the car in which she was riding collided with a machine driven by D. F. Bowler of 501 South Glendale avenue. The accident occurred at the intersection of Cypress street and Brand boulevard about 11 o'clock Sunday. Miss Whiting was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital but was able t o go home in a short time.

Harvard and Louise streets was the scene of a collision at 2:30 p. m. Saturday between automobiles driven by David R. Brown of 822 East Harvard street, which was going east, and Robert J. Corrigan of 222 South Brand boulevard, which was going south. One of the wheels of Mr. Brown's car was broken.

Escapes Injury

Charles E. Dosta of Los Angeles was driving north on San Fernando Road about 6:30 last night in heavy traffic. He tried to avoid a machine driven by Joe Agneu of Los Angeles which is reported to have made a rapid and unexpected turn without a signal.

"No one was injured," reported Mr. Dosta. "One of my fenders was damaged and I think the steering rod was bent."

Captain "Johnny" Meyer of the fire department was enjoying an automobile ride with his wife and brother, Ralph W. Meyer of 224 North Belmont street about 3:30 yesterday afternoon. He turned to the left side of the road to avoid being hit by a car coming from a side road. Another machine ran into one of the right fenders on his vehicle. Mr. and Mrs. John Meyer live at 1945 Glenwood Road.

Terms Of Dyer Bill Will Be Strengthened and Federal Courts Given Jurisdiction Where Local Officers Fail to Preserve Peace

MACON, Ga., Aug. 20.—Excitement ran high in Macon today when it awoke to find another man had been killed by the mobs, which for two weeks have been striking terror into the hearts of this community. The latest flogging led to the arrest of three brothers, who are being held in jail without bond. This district has witnessed two lynchings in the past ten days.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Frequently recurring outbreaks of mob violence throughout the nation today caused officials of the Coolidge administration to consider enactment of legislation making these offenses a crime against the federal government. With governors of four states alarmed by mob uprisings and martial law proclaimed in one territory, President Coolidge was reported deeply concerned by the apparent increased disregard for law and order. The president and other government officials were said to be considering the advisability of enacting an anti-mob bill in the next congress. The proposed legislation would apply not only to lynch mobs but to all organizations of masked men who take the law "into their own hands."

The Dyer bill, passed by the last house but "talked to death" in the senate by a Democratic filibuster, will be re-introduced in the next congress, it was learned today. The Coolidge administration is expected to support this measure inasmuch as the executive was elected on a platform which pledged its enactment.

Plan Drastic Measure

Federal authorities, however, hope to extend the Dyer bill to extend to all masked organizations attempting mob violence of any nature. The Dyer bill, in its original form, applied only to lynching mobs. It provided a penalty of $10,000 fines upon counties in which lynching occurred and would have punished all state and county officers held responsible for the outrages.

A movement is now under way to amend a bill to make any act of mob violence a federal crime. Under this would come the whippings, and "tar and feather" outrages, frequently attributed to the Ku Klux Klan. Penalties on a lesser scale than those applying to lynching would be provided.

Although the Dyer bill was bitterly fought in the last congress, Republican leaders are more hopeful of its enactment after next December. The Democratic south was lined up against the bill in a racial principle and the bill's opponents were victorious in their filibuster, when Republican leaders stopped the fight in view of the fact that other pressing legislation was being delayed.

Indorsed by Lawyers

However, new issues are now presented and the legislation should be passed without strong opposition. It has already been indorsed by the American Bar association and similar statutes have been enacted in the states of South Carolina, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio. The Dyer bill will be re-introduced in the house by its author, Representative Dyer, Republican of Mis-

Local Man Implicated In Blackmail Charge

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—While pretty Edith White of Chicago sobs of her innocence at the city jail today, detectives hunted for other members of a suspected gang, who are believed to have tried to blackmail Milton Levy, former army captain of Denver, Colo. Arthur E. Bates, who is said to have confessed his part in the asserted blackmail schemes and to have told detectives of its operations, was arrested.

Levy told the police he was victimized on August 14, after giving two young women, one of whom was Miss White, a lift in his automobile. After he refused to give the money demanded, the girl is said to have told the police she had been attacked. Levy related his experience to the district attorney's office and the woman's arrest followed.

A third suspect was taken into custody today when Dr. Herbert M. Fairs, 102 South Maryland, was arested in his Glendale office. Charges of extortion will be placed against the trio, the police said.

Dr. Fairs is alleged to have agreed with Bates that he would testify that Levy attacked Miss White, should the case ever be brought to the authorities' attention. In a signed statement to the police, Bates said the Glendale doctor knew "it was a frame-up."

SIGNAL HILL FIRE TAKES TWO LIVES

Incendiarism Suspected as New $65,000 Oil Blaze Threatens Field

LONG BEACH, Aug. 20.—Two men, W. E. Aman and E. C. Mikeal, were killed and a third man, who could not be identified, barely escaped with his life early today in a new oil fire that swept Signal Hill. Mikeal died several hours after the fire. It was announced by officials later this morning that the fire had been brought under control.

The fire started when a pipe line of the Shell Oil company broke, spraying oil on at boiler at which three men were getting up steam. The three men were enveloped in flams.

The burning oil, which was flownig down hill, reached a storage tank, causing it to explode. Damage was estimated at $65,000.

Suspecting incendiarism in the huge fire and explosion, authorities immediately started a hunt for a firebug who is believed responsible for a number of recent blazes in the oil district.

For a time the burning oil threatened the repair shops, garage, laboratories, large pumps and many storage tanks, but they were saved by the fire fighters after a battle of several hours. Charges of dynamite were placed about the fire and set off, throwing huge banks of dirt against the rapidly traveling oil stream. Men were rushed in with shovels and completed the ring of trenches about the blaze.

One entire unit of the big pumping plant was destroyed and another seriously damaged.

Five Held by Police In Detroit Robberies

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Five men were in custody suspected of connection with a raid on the fashionable Allendale Inn, near here, where four men and two women were shot, and 75 gay patrons lined up against the wall and robbed of cash and jewels estimated at $20,000. A posse of 1,000 citizens is besieging a swamp six miles south of Monroe, where a sixth suspect is believed in hiding. The bandits announced their appearance on the dance floor of the inn by firing revolvers into the ceiling and their weapons continued to bark at every display of fight.

Police believe the same gang responsible for the death of Patrolman Oscar Reinhardt, who was shot on the Monroe road when he attempted to halt occupants of a speeding automobile. Two youths, both 16, were shot, one perhaps fatally, when they engaged in a pitched battle with police after holding up a motor car on a road leading to the city.

Luncheon Hostess

Complimenting her guest, Mrs. Spilker of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. T. B. Miller was luncheon hostess recently at her home at 170 Eagledale avenue, Eagle Rock.

A large basket of beautiful dahlias decorated the luncheon table. After luncheon an informal social time was enjoyed and pictures were taken of the company.

Those entertained at the Miller home were Mrs. Bruce Sunken and Raymond and Jack Sunken of Los Angeles; Mrs. Annie Tarling and Miss Faith Tarling, Mrs. O. S. Palmer and Ruth Palmer, Mrs. J. A. Quackenbush and daughter Evangeline, Mrs. Tyrell and children of Glendale; Mrs. J. B. Palmer and children Erma, Dorothy, Paul and Nicholas, and Mrs. W. A. Braden of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Miller's children Joy Elden and Virgina, were also present.

Club Card Party

There will be but four more summer card parties at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, announces Mrs. T. G. Widmeyre, under whose direction these informal social affairs have been held. The last affair will be on September 11.

At the party tomorrow Mrs. Widmeyre will be assisted by Mrs. C. H. Thompson. At the party last week Mesdames Ernest Carr and Harley Clough were assisting hostesses.

Business Meeting

The aid society of the Tropico Presbyterian church, Mrs J. M. Server president, will hold a business meeting and luncheon on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Covington, 1905 Gardena street, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The hostesses for the day are Mrs. Covington, Mrs. Clouse, and Mrs. Dunham.

Spain Sends Ships to Bombard Rebel Tribes

MADRID, Aug. 20.—Dispatches from Melilla today indicated the losses in the latest attacks by rebellious Riff, tribesmen on the Moroccan frontier, were 500. The Spanish minister of war has ordered every army corps to be held in readiness for field service.

General Echague, Spanish commander in chief at Melilla, and Abdel K. Rim, leader of the rebels, are directing their armies in person. The rebel offensive is said to have resulted from the action of the Spanish in sending out convoys insufficiently protected, thus inviting attack. The navy department is sending battleships to Morocco to bombard rebel positions on the coast. Several unattached tribes have joined the Spanish.

EXPLOSION INJURES 7

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Seven persons were injured, three believed to be fatally hurt, and a score or more employes of the Archer Laundry thrown into a panic when a steam line exploded in the plant today.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fling of 458 West Lexington drive, Sunday, August 19, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Faris of 554 West Palm prive, Saturday, August 18, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Lodge Has Social

"An Ice Cream Social," is the attractive announcement Carnation Rebekah lodge members have received for the lodge gathering tomorrow night in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway.

Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand, announces that a short business meeting will precede the informal social hour, featured by a special surprise.

Mrs. Milly Keiser is chairman of the entertainment committee, and will be assisted by Miss Bernice Coffey, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Baines, Miss Keiser, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Anna Dean, C. W. Ingledue, Mrs. Helen McBryde, George Frost, Charles Pease and Mrs. Hall.

Philathea Party

The members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church of which Mrs. Helen K. Scripps is teacher, are entertaining their friends tomorrow night, Tuesday, August 21, at 8 o'clock, with a lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butterfield, 1325 North Central avenue.

Miss Marie Oliver, chairman of the social committee, has planned several interesting features for the evening and a good time is assured for all.

INGLEDUES OPEN REALTY OFFICES

Father and Son Offering Fine Buys Due to Local Experience

"Brand-new and full of pep!" That's the Ingledue Realty company, 632½ East Broadway, according to C. W. Ingledue, who, with his son, E. M. Ingledue, is running the business at that address.

"I've been buying and selling Glendale real estate ever since I came here twelve years ago," says Mr. Ingledue, Sr., "so I guess I know something about values. But we must have something to sell before we can sell—so we're eager for good listings.

"We have buyers waiting for Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard frontage, particularly, and for choice residence property. And we are offering some of the finest buys obtainable.

"One property, especially, we feel is a pick-up. That is a beautiful, six-room home near Kenneth road, in a neighborhood of exclusive $20,000 and $30,000 homes. This home we have succeeded in listing for the remarkably low price of $10,500, and $2500 cash will handle."

Mr. Ingledue and his son will be found in the office of the Ingledue Realty company, at the above address, during business hours, and will be glad to list vacant and improved residence property, business frontage, bungalow courts, duplexes, and, in fact, every type of real estate.

Large Glendale Class Initiated by K. of C.

Knights of Columbus of Southern California gathered yesterday in Los Angeles for initiatory ceremony receiving eighty-seven candidates from Glendale, and later enjoyed a banquet and program at Herbert's Grill. The initiation took place in the Knights of Columbus building on Flower street, and from there the Knights and ladies went to the grill.

B. J. Leonard, district deputy of Pasadena, presided over the after-dinner hour as toastmaster. Vocal numbers were given by Joseph Sheehan, Martha Richards, Edwin Albright and a comedy sketch by Mr. Sponer. Joseph Scott gave the main address. Other speakers were Peter L. Ferry of Glendale, district deputy, Judge Thomas White and Jatrick J. Cooney of Imperial valley.

Glendale Boy Looms As Rival to Bambino

The horsehide is being whaled for .310 at the Del Monte Citizens' Military Training camp, by young Jimmie Stumpf, son of Craig E. Stumpf, realtor, 105 South Central avenue.

Jimmie is the Babe Ruth of the camp league, having connected for eight homers in the past two weeks.

Kenneth Prentice of Lodi, captain of his high school nine, is also clouting the sphere lustily, while picking 'em out of the clouds at center field with unfailing eye. Though not such a home-run walloper as Jimmie, young Prentice has managed to stack up a .371 stickwork average.

FIRE ESCAPE

A recently patented fire escape resembles an escalator, being operated by the weight of persons on its steps.

DEATHS---FUNERALS

MRS. GRACE E. HUTSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Eliza Hutson of Pasadena will be held under the direction of Kiefer & Eyerick at 10 a. m. tomorrow, Tuesday, August 21, 1923, at the Little Church of the Flowers.

Mrs. Hutson is survived by a brother, George C. Fetters of Eagle Rock, a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Ford of Pasadena and two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Murphy of Millersburg, Ohio, and Mrs. Addie Miller of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Hutson was born May 27, 1881, in Millersburg, Ohio.

NEED FUNDS FOR FIGHTING FIRES

Improvement Assn. Will Take Up Plan to Collect Money at Meeting

Notices have been mailed to all residents of the valley, announcing the first Improvement Association meeting to be held since June. This meeting will be held on the first Thursday in September at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. The different committees on street, water, gas, schools and fire departments have been holding their meetings, as all their work has been urgent for the good of the community.

"It is of interest to all residents of the valley to know that in a period of 17 days 24 fires were extinguished by the local fire department. This fire department is maintained by the membership of the association as dues for which each family pays $2.00 per year. This of course seems inadequate to take care of the expenses attendant on the number of fires which have been prevalent this summer. To secure a fund to have on hand for this work, each family in the valley is asked to donate the small sum of $1 or $2 if one can conveniently spare it.

Checks for the donations may be sent or handed to C. A. Hoskins at the Montrose Bank, or may be paid with one's water bill. Mr. Haskins is treasurer of the Improvement Association and will give these funds his personal attention.

The Association urges that all residents of the valley, whether members or not, be present at the meeting the first Thursday in September as a number of very important matters will be brought up for discussion.

Supervisor to Attend

Supervisor Wright expects to be present and tell La Crescentians what he intends doing toward improving their streets, so every one and his neighbor owes a duty to himself and family and can only pay it by being present at this most important meeting of the year.

Emil Busch, proprietor of the Busch chicken ranch, is building quite an addition to his home on the corner of Piedmont and Los Angeles avenue.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, accompanied by Elizabeth Talbot-Martin, attended the Glen Eyrie and Eastern Star picnic, which was held in Eagle Rock Park on Saturday evening. Miss Talbot-Martin gave an original interpretative dance, accompanied by Miss Pansy Corp, well known Glendale musician and also gave two dramatic readings entitled "Seein' things at nighta" and "Our Hired Girl," the latter being an encore.

Premier Kato So Ill Successor Is Chosen

TOKIO, Aug. 20.—Premier Baron Kato's condition is believed to have become serious when it was learned that only members of his immediate family and his personal physicians were permitted at his bedside. Baron Kato's illness has incapacitated him for several months and for this reason Baron Uchida has summoned one of the two remaining members of the Genro, to discuss the admitted political crisis now existing in Japan. At the conclusion of the conference, it is expected announcement will be made that Baron Uchida has been chosen temporary premier during the illness of Baron Kato.

Army Aviators Will Photograph Eclipse

DAYTON, O., Aug. 20.—Lieut. John A. McReady, the McCook field flyer, is going to try another one. From Washington he will jump out of the field in a special photographic plane and head for the Pacific coast. With him will be Captain Stephens, the expert photographer of the air service. He will be equipped with special cameras and will photograph the sun during the eclipse which the weather sharks say is due to occur on September 10.

En route Stephens will take a number of shots at Yellowstone Park. The sun will be "shot" from high altitude and that is where McReady will get his hand into the photographing business.

INDEX TO COMMUNITY LOYALTY PAGE

PAGE 4 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the Glendale Loyalty Page on page 4 of this issue where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Page will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

Secret Wedding Of Glendalians Becomes Known

THE sly little love god probably smiled a broad smile this morning, when he overheard a long distance telephone call between Glendale and Whittier, revealing the romance and secret marriage of two young Glendalians, which took place Monday, August 6, 1923, in Whittier.

Miss Pearle Barrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barrick of 341 West Maple street, was the bride, and Lawrence L. Scoles of 322 Justin street, the groom, and the officiating minister, was Rev. John Oliver of the First Methodist church of Whittier.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Scoles returned to her home in Glendale, and Mr. Scoles to Redondo Beach where he is employed.

No announcement has been made of the wedding until today, when Mrs. Scoles' parents will learn the secret.

U. S. WILL WAR ON MOB ACTION

New Law Planned to Stop Riotous Bands From Terrorizing States

souri, and in the senate by Senator Shortridge, Republican of California.

"I will re-introduce my bill in practically the same form as it passed the house last year," said Dyer today. "It will apply to all mobs, consisting of three or more men, but in its present form would provide punishment only when the victim is killed. It applies to the Ku Klux Klan as well as any other body of men.

"Under existing conditions, state authorities are helpless to stamp out mob violence. State laws make it necessary to obtain indictments in the county where the crime occurred and experience has taught us local grand juries will not return indictments. Enactment of my bill would transfer the cases into the federal courts where justice would be more easily obtained.

Talks With Coolidge

"One conviction in a federal court and mob violence would be ended.

"I have talked to President Coolidge about my bill, and I am preparing a memorandum for his use, and I expect the president will support its enactment."

Reports from Department of Justice agents at the scene of mob outrages meanwhile are reaching government authorities. Federal agents now are investigating the crimes in Texas, Ohio, Georgia, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

Rangers Hold Texans in Check

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20.—Although investigation continued today in Oklahoma and Texas into flogings and other mob outrages, there were practically no developments over the week end in the situation at various "danger points" in the two states.

All was reported quiet at Tulsa, Okla., where martial law was declared by Governor J. C. Walton, because of numerous lashings. Although the situation at Port Arthur, Texas, where two men were beaten by a mob Saturday night was still considered tense, Texas rangers, together with local authorities were holding things in check there.

Georgia Governor Depends on Sheriff

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 20.—Following a conference with Adjutant General Charles Cox, regarding kidnappings and two lynchings, at Macon, Gr., during the past two weeks, Gov. Clifford W. Walker today announced that the troops will not be sent to disturbed areas at present.

The governor announced his readiness to dispatch military forces to take charge of the situation "the instant necessities develop," but stated he will await a request from Sheriff James P. Hicks, Jr., before calling out troops.

Sanitarium Will Sell $360,000 Securities

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital is a well-established institution, and when finally housed and in operation in the new building on the nearby hill top, will undoubtedly win nation-wide recognition.

It is therefore of wide interest to Glendalians and other Californians to note that the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital is offering the unsold portion of $360,000 6 per cent first mortgage real estate gold notes, secured by the land, buildings, income and equipment of the institution. A detailed advertisement announcement appeared today in the second section of the Glendale Evening News.

JOE FISH FACES TRIAL

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor Joseph Fish of Pasadena was arrested about 7 o'clock Saturday by Officer R. L. McLean. This morning he was released on $300 bail and his case was set for 11 a. m. August 28, by Judge F. H. Lowe.

PASADENA ELKS TRIM GLENDALE

Ball Game Here Goes Eleven Innings With Good Men on Mound

In an eleven frame ball game afternoon on the Park avenue and San Fernando road grounds, the Pasadena Elks finally triumphed over Walt Heidler's Glendale nine, 5 to 2, in a superb pitching duel that produced thirty-one strikeouts.

Walt Heidler himself hurled for the locals, striking out thirteen of the Crown City "Bills," while Fred Nettles of the visitors sent eighteen Glendalians to the bench. Following are the facts:

500 Shotgun Experts In American Handicap

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Five hundred American shotgun experts today face the dozen traps at South Shore Country club in the opening shoot preliminary to the Grand American Handicap, the annual classic. The Lake Michigan introductory targets will be 200 birds, today. The winner's trophy and scores count in the North American championship. J. S. Frick, Worthington, Minn., 1922 winner of the Grand American, and Dave Fusike, singles champion, also of Worthington, are here to defend their titles.

EXPERT HERE TO TEACH SWIMMERS

'Learn to Swim Week' Will Be Held Under Direction Of Red Cross

Although Glendale's many attractions do not include a nice stretch of beach and Pacific opean, neverthless the local Red Cross organization, headed by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, are anxious that Glendalians should know the necessary tactics of swimming, and, therefore, a "Learn to Swim Week" has been arranged for August 27 to September 1.

Patterson Avenue park plunge is to provide the desired "swimmin' hole" location, and, under the direction of Arthur B. Bonner, representative of the American Red Cross life saving corps, tests and exhibitions will be given every morning, beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

Register at Plunge

Junior life saving tests will be given, and only those who can swim 100 yards may participate. Registration can be made at the plunge.

Among the events to be directed by Mr. Bonner are 100-yard swim, diving, swim on back for fifty feet, retrieving an object in nine feet of water, diving from the surface, head carry, cross chest carry, two point on side, support carry, tired swimmer's carry, fireman's carry, releasing one's self from so-called death grips, wrist hold, front neck strangle hold, back neck strangle hold, recovering a body at bottom of nine feet of water, rescuing a person fully clothed in water, breaking two persons apart who are struggling in bottom of tank; disrobe, coat, pants, shirt and swim 100 yards; Dr. Shafer's method of restoring one apparently dead from drowning; exhibition of fancy diving and swimming.

Greek Workers Face Military in Strike

ATHENS, Aug. 20.—The strike of Greek workmen extended today, threatening to become general. The government has established a court-martial to deal with offenders. The government now is threatening to repeal the trade union laws and dissolve the workers' federation. Suspension of newspapers is feared.

FIVE SHOOTERS SCORE

SOUTHSIDE COUNTRY CLUB, Ill., Aug. 20.—Five shooters broke 99 of 100 targets to lead at the half-way mark in the Lake Michigan introductory, curtain raiser of the Grand American Trap Handicap, which got under way this afternoon. The winner will take the Peacock Trophy and scores will count in the North American championship. The quintet of leaders listed Chief E. C. Wheeler, Pawhuska, Okla., J. D. Clay, Houston, Tex., H. C. Taylor, Mechling, S. D., J. D. Cunkle, Cheyenne, Wyo., and H. G. Warren, Chicago.

The Cubs and Dodgers gave a burlesque, the Westerners being the best actors and winning, 15 to 8.

PIRATE TREASURE FEATURES FROLIC

Rebekahs Plan Big Day at Topango Canyon Beach Saturday and Sunday

Capturing and landing a pirate ship and search for Captain Kidd's treasures are interesting events included in the program for the week-end beach party anticipated by members of the Carnation Rebekah lodge and their families the latter part of this week.

Elaborate plans are being made for the affair, to be held on the Topango canyon beach Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26.

Mrs. Evelyn Hall, noble grand, and Mrs. Marjorie Pease, vice grand, are planning to leave for the camp site early Saturday morning, to make ready for the arrival of the lodge members and families late in the afternoon. The camp will be located on the beach about two miles north of Topango canyon and can be reached by motoring through Santa Monica or directly through the canyon.

Here Are Plans

Mrs. Hall states that pennants in the lodge colors, pink and green will decorate the camp, and a big pennant in these colors will be flown from a high cliff.

The start for the beach will be made at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, from the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway. Provision will be made for those not having automobiles and all desirous of going are to be at the hall at that time.

Mrs. Pease is to have charge of the program beginning at 4 o'clock. Capturing and landing the pirate ship will be the opening event, and there will follow, a ducking contest, volley ball and follow the leader.

Other Program Features

Basket suppers will be eaten at 6 o'clock and later a search will be begun for Captain Kidd's treasures, hidden in a big chest. Another feature will be an event announced as "Jiggs and Maggie." There will also be "Blind Man's Buff," a Virginia reel, bonfire songs and stories and toasting marshmallows and wieners.

Breakfast on Sunday morning will be at sunrise.

Mrs. Hall states that all going should be equipped with camping outfits.

TO DEFY INJUNCTION

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor is expected to keep his promise to defy the injunction issued by Federal Judge Carpenter against efforts to unionize garment workers, when he addresses the workers tomorrow evening, at a mass meeting here. The union announced plans for a general strike for higher wages, shorter working week and recognition of the union.

Merchants and Buyers Both Have Obligations To Community

The Glendale merchant wants your trade. Is he selfish in asking it? He is in business for personal gain, it is true. You say, "His children are better clothed, have better times and more advantages than mine. Why do I owe him my business?" This isn't a personal matter; it is a community problem and both you and this merchant have obligations to the community.

In the first place it is his duty to stock up with the quality and kind of merchandise you are likely to want. He must buy his stock so he can sell to you as low as you can buy the same goods elsewhere and he must provide the surroundings and the service you will expect when you buy. Good business on your part demands that you do the best you can. Glendale merchants very generally have recognized this and have places of business and use business methods that tend to draw and hold trade.

So your merchant has a neat and modern, not to say luxurious, place of business; he can show you a variety of styles; his clerks are courteous and conscientious. His place of business is an asset to the community for a city is judged by its business activity.

And now this merchant feels he may ask your trade. He can give you as good as you can get anywhere for the money and save you the expense and inconvenience of going out of town. Even now it is your privilege to refuse him your patronage but this is where your Community Loyalty comes in. Without your trade he cannot keep his place of business up to the necessary completeness and efficiency. Without your business he cannot conduct a first-class store and first-class stores are essential in a home community like Glendale. And then a part of the money you spend with him is used in building a home, a part is spent with other Glendale merchants who also improve their places of business and build homes or buy property in Glendale. So your money keeps on working indefinitely for Glendale.

The question of trading in Glendale is simply a matter of Community Pride and Loyalty.

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Fall of Man Reveals God's Infinite Plan

"Why did God permit the fall?" was an inquiry answered yesterday at the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. "Knowing the weakness of human nature," remarked Rev. C. H. Chrisman, "we are quite sure that created beings, left to themselves, will eventually fall. God knew this.

"While this question has baffled the minds of the wisest, we are not left without some light. God has a great plan that had been in His mind from the eternal past, a plan not only for this world but for the millions of other worlds vaster and greater than this. A part of this plan is the securing of a race of human beings who will be fit and capable for intimate fellowship with Him. They must be a people possessing an established reliability who will stand true in any test. They must trust God fully and they must be the kind of a people whom He can fully trust. He could have made human beings with infallible and unchangeable characters fixed by divine decree. They would be holy because they could not be otherwise. Such beings would not be suitable for companionship with God. So He gave men the power of choice. He put before them good and evil."

Fruits of Faith Are Revealed by Parable

"True Faith's Foundation and Fruits" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Concordia Lutheran church.

"The great central theme of our Gospel, Matthew, 8th chapter, 1st to 13th verses, is faith," said Rev. Henry O. Kringel. "This faith is illustrated both in the leper and in the centurion. The climax is reached when Jesus exclaims, 'Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith; no, not in Israel.'

"On what did the leper in our Gospel rest his faith? We are told: 'The leper said, "Lord, if Thou wilt Thou canst make me clean."' Here we must observe that the leper is not praying for a spiritual gift but for a temporal blessing. He is asking for the removal of his leprosy.

"Jesus had just delivered His great sermon on the mount and the leper had probably stood from afar and heard the sermon, because the law did not permit him to approach others on account of his contagious disease. But when Jesus came down from the mount the poor man was bold enough to step before the Lord, to fall down before Him, burying his face in the dust."

Musical Program at Presbyterian Church

Mrs. Frank N. Arnold of 215 East Lomita avenue substituted for Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts of 114 West Park avenue yesterday in the quartet at the Presbyterian church.

The morning quartet number consisted of Barnby's "Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works". The evening numbers were Kirkpatrick's "O, Sing Unto the Lord" and Everett's "More Love, O Christ, to Thee".

Miss Elizabeth Mottern of 211 North Adams street joined Mrs. Arnold in a duet at the evening service, "I Waited for the Lord' by Mendelssohn.

The twilight organ recital by Oscar F. Walton of Los Angeles included "Marcia Pomposa" by Rockwell; "Jesus, Lover of My Soul"; and "Hymn to the Setting Sun" by Lacey.

J. Malcomson Huddy of Pasadena and Norman W. Kelch of Los Angeles are the other members of the church quartet.

Rev. Hoskyn Preaches At First Methodist

Rev. E. Hoskyn of 234 North Jackson street occupied the pulpit last night at the First Methodist church.

A gospel duet was sung by Miss Dorothy Peart of 801 South Maryland avenue and Glenn R. Dolberg of 206½ West Broadway. It was "Savior, Breathe an Evening Blessing." Mr. Dolberg sang "An Evening Prayer" as a solo.

Miss Peart and Mr. Dolberg, Miss Isabell Isgrig of Burbank and John B. Clarke formed a quartet which sang "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

ST. MARK'S MUSIC

Music at St. Mark's Episcopal church, which was arranged by Mrs. Charles A. Parker of 212 North Orange street, included the Venite by Crotch and the Te Deum by Aldrich. The anthem by the vested choir was "Praise God the Father."

CENTRAL AVE. M. E.

Rev. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue occupied the pulpit yesterday morning at the General Avenue Methodist church.

AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. R. D. Licklider of Fresno occupied the pulpit yesterday at the First Baptist church.

PREACHES TWICE

Rev. H. G. Mullen preached at both services yesterday of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

'OPEN DOOR' FOR STRONG LEADERS

Rev. Louis Tinning Preaches To Presbyterians on Need of Enterprise

Rev. Louis Tinning occupied the pulpit yesterday morning at the Glendale Presbyterian church. "An Open Door," suggested in the third chapter of Revelation was the subject of the sermon.

"The open door suggests a wealth of possibilities to the mind," he commented. "Tremendous opportunities may lie just beyond that open door. The door that opens into the kingdom of the home reveals life on one of its highest planes. The door that opens out into God's great world discloses marvelous beauties and possibilities. When a new life begins, its possibilities are beyond the power of the mind of man to conceive.

"But Christ is here speaking of the open door into the world of spiritual things. All else dwindles into the merest insignificance compared with the open door which Jesus Christ sets before those entering his service.

Christ Opened Door

"Before Christ came, a Chinese wall of exclusion surrounded the privileged land of light and liberty beyond the door. Most men were outside until Christ opened the door. Then they thronged in and the history of Christianity has been the history of opening doors to wider fields of Christian service beyond that Christly portal.

"Wherever Christ has come he has set before men open doors where lay possibilities of which they had never dreamed. This is a part of his mission and office. Men sometimes speak of Christ and his religion as if acceptance of it were a narrowing of life. This is not so. As far as the east is from the west, as high as is the heavens, as eternal as the endless ages, as broad as the mind of God is the plan of Jesus Christ for those who serve Him and love Him.

Tells of Man's Struggle

"Men long for a chance to grow and expand and to come into their own. The boy Lincoln struggled to enter the kingdom of knowledge. He was not permitted to enter very far, but by using every possibility and opportunity he grew to be one of the greatest minds the world has ever known. Every open door is an invitation, a beckoning hand, a provocation to untried enterprise. They who pass through the open door turn not back to the small petty things of the former life, but are partakers in a plan and purpose as broad and endless as the love of Almighty God. John Bunyan and Paul the Apostle were confined by prison bars for years. Their open doors seemed to have closed. But from their prison cells came messages which will be an inspiration to men of all time. When men have once passed through the open door 'no man can shut it.'

World Needs Leaders

"It is the instinct of strong men to lead. The world needs leadership over prejudice, stupidity, ignorance, squalor, pain and sin. They who have passed through the open door of Christ are equipped as none others to lead. Huxley said to a colleague, 'I suppose it is our duty to give this old planet of ours a little shove upwards.' Wherever men serve humbly, unselfishly, in the name of the Christ, they are carrying out God's eternal purpose for the endless ages."

Paul in Athens Was Lonely, Says Speaker

The visit of the Apostle Paul to the City of Athens was discussed yesterday morning in the council chamber at the city hall by the Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church.

"The Apostle Paul found himself alone in this great heathen city," remarked Rev. Keith L. Brooks. "The scenes upon which he gazed made him all the more lonely. Athens was distinguished as the center of art, philosophy and science. It was called the brain of the world and Milton described it as the mother of arts and eloquence. Where all this education flourished, idolatry most abounded. They had more images than all the rest of Greece. The streets were crowded with sellers of idols.

"Paul's spirit was stirred in him when he saw the whole city given to idolatry. He could not bear to see all this misuse of the products of genius and all this culture ending in nothing but selfish and vile gratification. 'Therefore, he disputed in the synagogue with the Jews and in the market daily with all that met him. Then certain philosophers called Epicureans and Stoics encountered him 'The Epicureans taught that the great end of existence was enjoyment. The Stoics were pantheists claiming that God is all and all is God."

SUPPLIES PULPIT

The Congregational church had as its minister yesterday Rev. Charles H. Davis of the Highland Congregational church.

'Sublime Objective' Rev. Millikan's Topic

A somewhat larger congregation than usual greeted Rev. L. J. Millikan, who has just returned from his vacation, yesterday morning at the services of the Broadway Methodist Church, South.

Miss Gertrude Edens of 745 East Wilson avenue sang "Somebody Cares" as a solo.

"Reaching the Sublime Objective" was the topic of the sermon.

"With Jesus Christ in every heart all human problems would be solved," commented Rev. Millikan, "and they would be adjusted fairly, leaving no bitterness. No longer would there be social, commercial, racial, capitalistic, labor or other problems.

"Faith swings open wide the door and invites Christ to come in. Obedience also is required for faith and disobedience cannot dwell in the same heart at the same time. In every battle where self is sacrificed, you will be sure to win. When you separate yourself from the world, the world will be sure to find it out. When His love comes into your heart, you will love every one of God's creatures, no matter how lowly his life. Strength means power to endure and to obtain spiritual strength we must be rooted and grounded in the love and service of Jesus."

Plenty of Fools Are Still Left, Is Claim

"Fools are not all dead yet but multitudes of them are still playing the game!"

Dr. James F. Winnard uttered this truism last night at the Tropico Presbyterian Church.

"He plays the fool who says there is no God!" he exclaimed. "But this class of fools are few and far between. Not many have the audacity to stand forth in the presence of the Almighty and say even in their hearts that there is no God.

"Those, who live as though there is no God, also play the fool. And the name of this class is legion for they are many. Some of them profess the name but deny the power of Godliness. Adam, Solomon, David, Jonah, Samson, Peter and John Doe all played the fool in departing from the instructions of God Almighty.

"And they were not one whit worse than we, who know the will of God, but do it not. And to him that knoweth to do right and doeth it not, to him it is Sin.

"He plays the fool, who refuses to accept God as father, Christ as Saviour and the Holy Spirit as guide; who refuses to accept the Bible as the inspired Word of God and despises the means of grace."

Man Must Listen to God, Rector Advises

"Man must learn to listen to God," asserted Rev. Philip K. Kemp yesterday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal church.

"Man seems too often to be listening for a new voice to guide him," he continued, "but that voice is not the voice of God. His fellow man is ever presenting a new way from his present unfortunate condition. The multiplicity of religious cults, societies of self-culture, helps to prosperity and the like, are eloquent testimony to this fact.

"From the far distant past comes the call from the book of the Psalms, 'Be still and know that I am God.' It is the call to listen to the Sovereign Spirit of the universe that has guided men from savagery and paganism to the privilege of modern civilization, yet seldom gets credit for it.

"Man suffers from the sin that Moses long ago warned his fellow countrymen against — that of feeling that by their unaided efforts they have gained their present level of advancement.

"God speaks to us in various ways. There is the voice of nature when He speaks in terms of majesty and solemnity. One has but to be in the quiet of the open spaces to hear the voice of God."

Sacramento Pastor in Two Services Sunday

Rev. A. F. Ritchey of Sacramento had charge of all services yesterday at the Central Christian church.

A trio sang, "O Paradise," by Seymour at the morning service. This was composed of Mrs. C. C. Stoler of 1249 Justin street, Mrs. Floyd Mercer of 319 North Jackson street and Mrs. F. W. Pigg of 405 North Maryland avenue. Mrs. M. G. Musser of 600 West Colorado street was the accompanist.

A quartet sang at the evening service. This was composed of Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. R. P. Jodon of 133 South Kenwood street, Dr. R. C. Logan of 502 Salem street and Devoyne Davidson of 206 South Orange street. The selection was "Something For Thee" by Lewis.

AT NAZARENE CHURCH

Rev. Henry Scheideman of 1002 South Glendale avenue occupied the pulpit as usual yesterday at the Nazarene services.

Perfumes were used originally only in religious services.

Bandits Slay Man, Rob Poker Players

REDDING, Aug. 20—John Bogdan, employe of the Pacific Gas & Electric company at Pit No. 3 Camp was shot and almost instantly killed today by one of two bandits, who held up participants in a poker game. The bandits were captured but later escaped.

Employes of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. at Pit No. 3 Camp seventy miles northeast of here were engaged in the game. Two strangers, who arrived at the camp yesterday were interested onlookers. When the stakes ran high the spectators turned bandits, and ordered the players to hold up their hands. Sheriffs of Siskiyou and Shasta counties organized posses and are searching for the escaped bandits.

Red Forces to Control East Cape, Siberia

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 20.—White forces in control of the Russian Soviet administration at East Cape, Siberia, are expected to surrender their authority when the volunteer steamer Stavropol arrives at Kolyma with 100 soldiers of the Red Army aboard. Conditions at Kolyma are unknown among traders here, but it is recalled that the east cape administration changed hands August 10, and that conditions there are still unsettled.

Have You Saved This Much Money?

EVERY other person in California has a savings account. Of these accounts the average balance is $550.00.

From their thrift these savers derive a triple benefit—(1) the direct advantages from the accumulation of money, (2) the interest their money earns, (3) the indirect benefit from the use of their funds by the banks to unbuild their communities.

Funds deposited with this bank are used here to aid local development. In addition, the branches of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank are not limited in their ability to serve by the extent of their local resources. They have behind them and available in time of need, the massed resources of the entire inter-community banking system.

EASTERN STARS' PICNIC SUCCESS

225 Members in Frolic at Eagle Rock Park on Saturday Evening

A picnic frolic in the delightful little Eagle Rock park was participated in Saturday night by 225 members of the Glen Eyrie chapter, Eastern Star, their families and special guests.

It was the annual outing of the lodge, and Miss Mildred Lyon, worthy matron, and Ralph J. Reese, who aranged the affair, were justly complimented on the success.

Leaving the Masonic temple at 4 o'clock, the picnickers motored to the park for games, stunts and entertainment until the supper hour.

Sack races were held first. In the race for children little Eleanor Marek was winner. Mrs. Augusta Woodside was awarded the prize in the women's race. For the men, there was a contest of throwing through three hoops, and Mr. Jerry was given the prize, a fine flashlight.

Dancers Delight

Entertainment features were dances by Betty Martin, accompanied by Miss Pansy Corp; songs by Miss Alta Arnold, accompanied by Miss Corp, and a reading by Betty Martin. Those taking part in the program were presented with little gifts of appreciation.

Preceding the supper hour grand marches were held for children and adults, and those participating were given gay-colored balloons.

There were over 200 grown-ups and children seated at the supper tables.

There were two grand officers as guests:

Mrs. Virginia Goff of Glendora and Irene Brunick Clark of Highland Park, district deputy grand matrons.

Other special guests were Fannie Bailey, worthy matron of the Eagle Rock chapter, and Mr. McGrath, worthy patron of a chapter in Los Angeles.

During supper coffee was served by a special committee, including Riley Lyon, Mr. Whitaker and Mr. Waxman.

The latter part of the evening was enjoyed in dancing. music being furnished by Wilson's eight-piece orchestra. The dance program was featured by several spot dances with prizes and by a Paul Jones.

'Jesus in Mountain' Gives Sermon Subject

Dr. Henry I. Rasmus yesterday morning delivered the third of his post-vacation sermons taking as his theme "With Jesus in the Mountain."

"It was to the mountains that Jesus resorted with his disciples for prayer," he commented. "I do not know what that day Jesus prayed for, but, the result was manifest — transfigured beauty and glory.

"Jesus in the mountain makes it a place of education. This is what Peter would have, three tabernacles: One for Moses, one for Elias and one for Jesus. The record declares that he knew not what he said but it is certain that he said more than he knew for this is the process in bringing the human race to its perfection. First, law; second, discipline; third, love. Tabernacle of law for Moses; tabernacle of discipline for Elias; tabernacle of love for Christ.

"The mountain itself is a symbol of strength and grandeur. The cedars of Lebanon were an expression of strength. It is the strength of the hills that has given character to national life."

Judge Rutherford to Address Convention

Helpful, enthusiastic and lively have been the discussions at the International Bible Students' association convention at Trinity auditorium, which today is in its third day's session. The discourses of the delegates, who represent every part of America, and more than a dozen foreign countries, have been, in a way, preliminary to the great address to be delivered as the convention's climax, at the Coliseum, Exposition park, next Sunday, by the famous jurist-evangelist, Judge J. F. Rutherford.

Judge Rutherford, who is regarded as the successor of the famous Pastor Russell, is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow. He has been traveling across the continent by way of Canadian cities, in many of which he has been greeted by large gatherings of enthusiastic Bible students.

There are more thunderstorms in northwestern Florida than in any other part of the country.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Village Blacksmith," now showing at the Glendale Theatre, thrills with its romance, depicting against a background of beauty and charm a fascinating drama which runs through to a satisfying conclusion. Paul H. Sloane is responsible for the scenario, the production being made and released by William Fox, under the direction of Jack Ford.

There is a train wreck in "The Village Blacksmith" that is thrilling in its realism. Furthermore, occurring as it does at the crucial moment, it heightens suspense to the breathless point.

"Our New President, Calvin Coolidge," is a short topical film that will especially appeal to the audience at the Glendale Theatre today.

THE GATEWAY

"Salomy Jane," a Paramount picture featuring Jacqueline Logan, supported by George Fawcett, Maurice Flynn and William P. Davidson, is the film offering at the Gateway Theatre tonight.

George Melford, who produced this feature, is known as one of the best directors making films for the American public. He is a careful worker and he has never produced a more effective piece of celluloid than the present.

"Salomy Jane" is different, different chiefly because it transfers to the screen the human spirit of Bret Harte, the great American author from whose works the story is taken; but different also in the richness of settings and variety of types of the old '49 days in California.

Free Cooking Demonstration

MRS. HARRIET HALL will give a demonstration in cooking

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday

at the Enterprise Furniture Co.

Using the Famous

New Method Range

Mrs. Harriet Hall is a nationally known authority on cooking. She is a graduate of the University of California Domestic Science Department and has a thoroughly practical, as well as scientific knowledge of cooking and baking.

Naturally, Mrs. Hall uses the New Method Range, which is very well known for its five patented features:

1 Enameled steel burner. Consumes more than three times as much air and one-fourth less gas. Instantly removable for washing. Enameled inside and out. Guaranteed for five years.
2 Swinging simmering burner and lighter. Movable from one front burner to the other. Instead of lifting heavy pots, simply swing the little burner to where you want it. Also a lighter when and where you want it.
3 Baking oven. Flames do not touch bottom. No warping or burning out. Absolutely even heat distribution. Baking will brown on top before burning on bottom.
4 Broiling oven. Has burner at each side extending front to back, flame covering evenly entire top of broiling space. Lighted from the front. No possibility of explosion.
5 Counterbalanced oven door. No springs or latches to break, come off or become lost. A perfectly balanced door that is always a source of convenience to the housewife.

Be Sure to Come to This Demonstration. You Will Be More Than Repaid in the Time Taken by the Things Which You Learn

Demonstration Will Be Held At Our Other Store at 1261 South Brand Boulevard Next Friday and Saturday

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The stock market closed irregular today. Trading diminished at the close and prices fluctuated within narrow limits on both sides. Call money rose to 5½ per cent but had little bearish tendencies.
Independent steel stocks, led by Gulf States Steel, made a spurt just before the finish. Gulf States rose 7½ to 76½. Steel common yielded fractionally to 92 and Baldwin closed at 121⅝, half a point decline.
California Petroleum was down ⅝ to 31. Studebaker fell one point to 105½. Union Pacific fell ⅞ to 131.
Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady. Total sales of stocks today were 583,000 shares; Bonds $5,725,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Strength marked the close of the grain market today. Bearish reports from Canadian fields and an unchanged export demand were discounted in actual trading. Corn futures showed increasing strength, threatening danger to short traders.
Wheat closed ⅛ to ½ up. Corn was a cent to ⅜ up and oats ¼ to ¼ up.
Provisions were dull.

Pier Gambling Joint At Ocean Park Raided

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—As the result of a raid last night by Chief Enforcement Officer George Contreras and other members of the District Attorney's office, 28 men today awaited hearing before Police Judge King of Santa Monica on charges of gambling and patronizing a gambling house, the "house" proving to be a covered space beneath the Dome pier at Santa Monica. All the defendants produced the required bail and the hearing was set for Friday afternoon.

INGLEDUE REALTY CO'S STORY OF THE NEW BROOM THAT SWEEPS CLEAN

—We are brand new in the Real Estate game in Glendale, and we are just running over with "pep and enthusiasm"—you know—just want to sell everything we see. Being new doesn't mean, however, that we do not know anything about Glendale Real Estate. We have been buying and selling property ever since we came here, 12 years ago. By the way, folks, we had not been in town but a few days before buying a lot on Orange Grove avenue and paid the exorbitant price of $450 for it, and wondered if I would ever get my money back. I sold it inside of thirty days and made $250.00 on it. Since then have been dabbling more or less, and we think we know something of Glendale Real Estate, at least enough to recognize a bargain when we meet it on the street. BUT, BEING NEW, BEFORE WE CAN SELL ANYTHING, WE MUST HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL. So, in place of taking the time to come to your door and asking for the privilege of TURNING YOUR PROPERTY INTO CASH, we are paying this newspaper for ½ page to tell you in this quiet way that we want that pleasure, and if you will just go to your phone and call Glendale 511-J, or call at our office and list your property, we will do the rest. WE HAVE BUYERS FOR GLENDALE AVENUE AND BRAND BLVD. FRONTAGE, also lots of inquiries for residence property in all sections of the city, especially SMALL HOUSES WITH SMALL PAYMENTS down, balance monthly.

WHAT HAVE YOU? Tell Us About It and Let Us Advertise It and Sell It!

New Roosevelt Stamps Popular With Buyers

The Glendale postoffice is keeping right abreast of the times, and every new idea that is adopted by the department at Washington is immediately put in use here by the staff.

The issue of the new Roosevelt five cent stamp, that has just been placed on sale here, is proving a big attraction to the local patrons of the postoffice, according to Jack Boettner, in charge of the stamp window, who says that those whose business calls for stamps of this denomination are rejecting the old styles of stamps to buy those bearing the picture of Theodore Roosevelt.

The new stamp is blue in color, and the engraving of Roosevelt that ornaments it is a most life-like portrait. It is predicted that the new issue will be eagerly sought after by philatelists both in the United States and in foreign countries.

For handling heavy boxes an inventor has patented a handled hook with spurs on the inside of the curve to take hold of wood.

Announce Reduction On Willys-Knight

In the fact of material increases all along the line, by other companies, prices on new Willys-Knight models are again reduced, reports Geo. T. Smith, of Smith-Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand boulevard, who quotes the following prices, now effective, delivered in Glendale:

Touring cars, $1395; roadsters, $1395; coupe-sedans, $1805.

"These reductions are made by the Willys-Overland Company without in any way altering the established quality of the Willys-Knight line of fine automobiles," says Mr. Smith. "We invite inspection of these new models at our showrooms and welcome comparison."

DOGS BITE CHILDREN

Several children were bitten by dogs over the week-end in Glendale. Those bitten included "Bobbie" Marks, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marks of 351 West Palmer avenue, and Eleanor Kimball, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Kimball of 625 South Louise St.

Conducts Services at Casa Verdugo Church

Rev. B. C. Cory addressed the congregation at the morning service Sunday at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, on the subject, "True Foundation of the Church," touching on the needs of the church and the basis on which it should be built. Mrs. R. D. Jones sang a solo, "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown?" and Rev. Cory closed the service by singing a solo.

The subject of his sermon at the evening service was "God's Expert." "He Will Take Care of You" was sung by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Cotton also sang a duet, "Afar From God," and Rev. Cory closed the evening service with a solo, "Over and Over Again." The pastor, Rev. J. C. Livingston, expects to arrive this week and will conduct the services next Sunday.

MEREDITH SUES FOR THIRTY CENTS

Ex-Secretary of Agriculture Seeks Solace From Sen. Brookhart's Statement

DES MOINES, Aug. 20.—Attorneys of James E. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture under President Wilson, were instructed by Meredith, to file suit against Senator Smith W. Brookhart, in connection with the recent charges of Brookhart that Meredith "sat in with the Wall street gang" in depressing farm products.

"Few people gave credence to Brookhart's statement," Meredith said in a letter. "While the damages of his statement might be more, I estimate his effectiveness at about 30 cents, so I have instructed my attorneys to file suit for that amount—the real compensation being in getting him on oath under record."

The suit will be filed Tuesday, at Washington, Iowa, where the Iowa senator makes his home.

Brookhart had charged that through the machinations of a powerful combination of capitalists as told by Meredith, farm prices were depressed with no advance notice to the farmers, though the big trusts had time to make arrangements to tide them over.

Senator Ridicules Suit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—"The damage suit to be filed against me by Mr. Meredith is small cause for worry," Senator Smith W. Brookhart said today when asked concerning his plans for fighting the 30 cent libel suit the former secretary of agriculture threatens to carry to court because of charges made by Brookhart that a combine of "the Wall Street gang" aided by Meredith, caused American farmers to lose millions of dollars.

"Wait until a farmers' jury hears Mr. Meredith's ridiculous charges," Brookhart said. "If the former secretary pushes this case we will have a lot of fun down in Washington county." Meredith is going to file the suit here.

3 MINOR OPERATIONS

The Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital was the scene of minor operations this morning upon Wilmer Pemberton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pemberton of 336 West Eulalia street, Norman Hopman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hopman of 1108 Stanley avenue, and Dr. Anna Josselyn of 1115½ South Brand boulevard.

BOTH LOSE TONSILS

"Bobbie" and Frank, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bick of 424 West Windsor Road, had their tonsils removed this morning at the Glendale Research Hospital.

BERGDOLL 'IDOL' 'ROUND EBERBACH

Attempt to Kidnap Slacker Makes Him 'Patriot' in Eyes of Germans

EBERBACH, Germany, Aug. 20.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy American draft dodger, who recently killed one man and wounded another during an attempt to kidnap him, declared today he would never go back to the United States. Bergdoll was as cocky as ever.

"They will never get me," he boasted. Asked if he would return, he replied:

"I might have gone back to America with my mother (Mrs. Emma Bergdoll of Philadelphia) if they had not tried to get me by force, but now I will never return."

The body of Carl Schmidt, the slain man, was shipped to Lausanne yesterday by his brother.

Gains Sympathy

Bergdoll is a sort of idol hereabouts. He has many friends in Eberbach. He gained much sympathy by the news that he refused to enter the American army to fight the Germans, and, in addition, he has been well supplied with American dollars since he came to Germany to live. Eberbach is ignorant of the real cause of Bergdoll's flight from America. They do not know he is a military slacker, but think he is patriotic.

The whereabouts of four prisoners arrested after the attempt to seize Bergdoll is a mystery. They are Lieutenant H. Griffis, Prince Gargarm, Roger Serber and Victer Neilsen. The American angle of the case is in the hands of the United States consul at Stuttgart.

Fritz Stecker, Bergdoll's bodyguard and former chauffeur, has established a store with money paid him by Bergdoll.

JOINS L. A. POLICE

H. L. Fleming of 132 North Everett street, who has been a patrolman in the local police department for the past sixteen months, has resigned to accept an appointment in the Los Angeles police department. He is now attending the officers' training school and expects to move to Los Angeles in the near future. His brass badge bears No. 1389.

OPERATE ON MRS. ROWE

A minor operation upon Mrs. George H. Rowe of 537 West Lexington Drive was performed yesterday at the Glendale Research Hospital.

AT RESEARCH HOSPITAL

EGYPT'S IMAGERY SEEN IN TEMPLE

Rossmoyne Administration Office Attracts Many Visitors to City

Depicting a double allegory, the imagery of J. S. Schultz, formerly a master artist for the Tiffany studios, but more recently a resident of Glendale, attracted the attention of more than 1000 visitors at the Egyptian Temple on North Verdugo road yesterday.

It was the formal opening of the administration offices in the temple by the Haddock-Nibley Company, developers of Rossmoyne, one of Glendale's greatest residential tracts in the foothills in the northern portion of the city.

The allegory shows the early Egyptians being sent forth by their king to find a new promised land and the story portrays their building of a temple in Southern California where fruit and flowers and grain abound. In another chapter these same Egyptians are seen returning with a report to their queen, the king having died.

History Repeated

A comparative allegory which may be poetic license, but plainly evident to those who know the story of the Franciscan fathers, says Lon J. Haddock, may be appreciated. The priests set forth on a similar expedition and returned to Spain with the story of a wonderland in Southern California.

Indeed, history is being made a big part of Rossmoyne, the streets and lanes and avenues being named for Spanish explorers and settlers. But the temple itself is a drawing card which is bringing people from Hollywood, Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Pasadena, San Diego, Burbank and other communities, according to the register of visitors which has the names of tourists from Utah and Indiana included among yesterday's guests.

Artist Wins Praise

Rest rooms for ladies and gentlemen fitted with furniture of the period of Rameses III are included in the temple which provides commodious quarters for the sales administration of the Rossmoyne force. The hieroglyphics and painted imagery are well worth a visit.

J. G. Jones, an Egyptologist temporarily visiting in Los Angeles, inspected the temple yesterday and says the creations of Mr. Schultz are the best he has ever seen and took the artist's address.

Pagliuso Home Place In Path of Progress

Joe Pagliuso, foreman of the Ross ranch, who has lived in Glendale for thirty-five years, will have to move his home as the march of progress in the Rossmoyne subdivision goes forward, it was learned today.

The extension of Mountain street around the Verdugo hills of northern Glendale goes right through the site of the Pagliuso home place. However, Mr. Pagliuso is making arrangements to live in one of the Rossmoyne tracts, for he dearly loves the hills of Mt. Verdugo.

As an immigrant boy he came here and trapped in the early days, later being employed by Judge Erskine M. Ross to set out olive, orange and apricot orchards, which he saw mature and bear crops for these many years.

'Show Me' State Folk Picnic Sunday, Aug. 26

The Missouri society of Los Angeles county will picnic at Sycamore Grove, Sunday, August 26, all former residents are informed. Dr. Elwin Witt, president of the association, has arranged a large program, and invites the former "Show Me" folks and their friends to attend. Souvenir badges will be distributed and hot coffee served.

Yosemite Park's Beauty Told by News' Staff Man

IT IS easy to understand why California is called the "Wonder State" or the playground of America, after a visit to Yosemite national park, according to Merrill D. Davis, 216 West Hawthorne, a member of The Glendale Evening News advertising staff, on his return to Glendale after a two weeks' trip to the park. Mr. Davis was accompanied by Mrs. Davis and their 7-year-old son, Merrill, Jr. "The pictures and paintings that are broadcast throughout the country convey but a slight idea of the grandeur of the scenic beauty of Yosemite," he added.

Mr. Davis found the names of many Glendalians on the register at the park, not a week having passed since the opening of the 1923 season that did not see from three to ten persons from this city registering at Yosemite. The trip by automobile from Glendale, he says, is not a matter of great difficulty.

WAR VETS FIGHT FAKE OIL STOCKS

Boys at Soldiers' Home Form Protective Association to Minimize Frauds

By BURL RAY TUTTLE

In an effort to be of service and to protect the disabled ex-service men at the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, the Better Business Bureau. Advertising Club of Los Angeles and the governor of the Soldiers' Home have started a drive to keep out the wildcat and fraudulent oil companies. This information is given Glendale for the benefit of many war veterans residing here

Fifteen hundred inmates of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle have organized the Protective Oil Stock and Unit Owners' association, to protect the interests of those who have invested their savings in oil lands and companies.

Co-operate With U. S.

It is the intention of the ex-service men and different organizations to co-operate with the federal authorities and to furnish them all information that should come into their hands through the mails or other channels.

It should be said that any legitimate company, oil or otherwise, should not have to solicit their stocks among the disabled ex-service men.

Officers of the new organization of the Protective Oil and Unit Owners' association include C. O. Powell, president; Mrs. Clara Sawyer, treasurer, and Edwin Walters, chairman of the executive committee. A public meeting of this organization is to be called in the near future at Sawtelle.

Shrine Club to Dine At Egyptian Village

The Shrine Club of Glendale will hold a dinner and entertainment for Shriners and their families, at the Egyptian Village Cafe, 133 North Brand boulevard, Friday night, August 24, at 7 o'clock, announces Charles Hahn, secretary of the organization.

There will be an entertainment, the exact details of which cannot yet be announced. Dancing will then follow, and there will be favors. All Shriners will wear the fez.

President D. Ripley Jackson of the Shrine Club of Glendale will preside over the festivities, supplemented by W. H. Reynolds, vice president.

P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge of arrangements.

Gold Diggers Of Fifty Years Ago And Today Compared; Interesting History Revealed

By GIL A. COWAN

GLENDALE had its "gold diggers" in the early days, according to an interview appearing in J. C. Sherer's history of this city—some intensely interesting recollections on the part of Jose Olivas. It is to smile to read how the boys in the early seventies used to dig around the site of the original adobe at the corner of Pacific avenue and Kenneth road.

Seems that someone found some pieces of eight, brought to this country by the early Spanish settlers. That gave rise to the belief that much money had been buried in this vicinity and there was nothing more intriguing than searching for "buried treasure."

Dug Up Old Tree

"When a boy, I used to dig with no other light than burning pieces of brea and after we had worked there all night, my chum and I, our own mothers could hardly recognize us, for we were so black. We never found any money although lots of people were digging in the old adobe ruins and around old trees.

"There was a large oak tree south of Mayor Spencer Robinson's home place," according to Mr. Olivas' account, until about 20 years ago, but it had been dug around so much that it finally died. The digging was all done at night—we thought it better luck."

Mr. Olivas, who came to Glendale in 1865, soon after California had been admitted to statehood in the Civil war days, sheds light on how Garvanza got its name. They raised garbanzos there (beans) and from that activity came the name of the community which is now a part of Los Angeles.

New Fortune Hunters

Brushing history aside we find there are fortune hunters here today, but they do not work by night. They are building homes for themselves and others. They are buying property and improving it. Certainly, they are not depending on fickle fortune to bring them rich return.

The wise investor here is sure of a fair profit and it is interesting to note that where the assessed valuation of property in Glendale five years ago was around seven millions of dollars, today the value is placed at more than thirty millions. Conditions are phenomenal when such is the case.

Yet there are many who have had opportunities the last few years to be among the fortunates and they passed up the chance of a lifetime. This writer has recounted before how a young man came here with less than nothing and in two years' time has builded himself a fortune of more than $100,000.

All Walks Win Wealth

School teachers, clerks, merchants and professional people have become independently wealthy through real estate transactions—and everybody is satisfied with what they own today so far as the writer knows. It was different in the early days, however.

"They had a very loose way of doing business when we first saw the valley," recounts Samuel Hunter. "Julio Verdugo would sell a piece of land without any papers passing. He and the other fellow would get together and agree that the land sold was to be a certain piece bounded by a line running from a tree to the top of a hill and from there down a certain canyon and thence to another tree and so on.

Then Lawyers Came

"They piled up a lot of trouble for the people who came afterwards and who were more particular, but for the time it worked satisfactorily and there were not many serious disputes over property lines until the lawyers got to coming," concludes Mr. Hunter!

All of which reminds us that Glendale has a baker's dozen of lawyers today when ten years ago it was difficult to employ one outside of Los Angeles or Pasadena. Several lived here, but they had their offices in the metropolis.

Maybe "gold diggers" need lawyers in 1923. Quien sabe!

ROME SEEN BY LOCAL TOURISTS

Mrs. Camilla T. Smith and Miss Esther Lundstrom Now in Denmark

Mrs. Camilla T. Smith, 809 South Verdugo road, Glendale, and Miss Esther Lundstrom, a former resident of Glendale but who now makes her home in Hollywood, are now making a three months' tour of the principal points of interest in Europe, according to word received by friends here. The message, which was mailed from Naples, Italy, on July 30, stated that they had stopped for a few days before going on to Florence, a day's ride in the train from Rome, where they also intended to visit all the points of interest.

Mrs. Smith and Miss Lundstrom, who were traveling with a party of thirty people who left the United States in June, planned to lay out their own itinerary, temporarily, after August 17, when they would start for Denmark, where Mrs. Smith wished to re-visit her childhood home and spend a good part of her time in Europe going over the ground with which she was familiar before coming to America.

The accounts sent home to Glendale by Mrs. Smith and Miss Lundstrom relate at length the events of their visit to Europe and the many places of historic and scenic interest they have visited and that they plan to see before coming back to this country. The start of the return trip will be made, according to their present arrangements, in the latter part of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Will Visit in East

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Haynes of 472 West Patterson street will leave tonight for an extended trip back East. Their itinerary will include all the important cities on the Atlantic seaboard. Their first stop will be at Niagara Falls, thence to New York City. Several days will be spent at Baltimore and Washington, where Mrs. Haynes will visit old school mates. Most of their time will be spent at Winston-Salem and Stoneville, N. C., and Spartansburg, S. C., visiting relatives of Mrs. Haynes, and at Nashville, Tenn., with relatives of Mr. Haynes, who is a former Tennesseean. Mrs. Haynes is a former North Carolinian. Mr. Haynes is secretary and treasurer of a large hardware firm in Los Angeles, and his trip will combine business and pleasure. They expect to return to Glendale in October.

Monologist Arranges Series of Lectures

Mr. and Mrs. Harry James of 1560 East Wilson avenue returned Friday night from a combined business and pleasure trip in their new Cleveland sedan to Carmel-by the Sea.

En route home Mr. James Who is well known in Glendale as a professional monologist, stopped at various communities and arranged for lectures this fall under the auspices of the Star Phonograph company of Richmond, Ind. Upon his return home he found a letter containing his third royalty check.

Gennett records made by Mr. James include "An Englishman at a Ball Game," "An Englishman's Idea of American Wit," "Is Marriage a Failure?" and "When Knighthood Blooms."

1000 Alhambra Caseys Hold Their Picnic Here

More than 1000 Knights of Columbus from Alhambra yesterday enjoyed a basket picnic at Happyland park in the Verdugo woods, the new amusement resort being donated for the day by the Haddock-Nibley company.

Lon L. Haddock today stated that, in addition to remodeling the dance pavilion, a number of high-class park attractions will be installed and more out-of-town picnics encouraged, as well as an invitation being extended the general public to enjoy the great out-of-doors.

The park will be well managed, he assures the people of Glendale, and it will be a great advertisement for family folks.

JUNIOR CLUB IS FOSTERED HERE

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, District President, Gives Views On Auxiliaries

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

INDICATING the possibilities of the junior auxiliary that is in the process of organization as one of the new units of Tuesday Afternoon club life, is the stress being placed on the junior auxiliaries by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District Federation. Mrs. Toll was instrumental as president of the Friday Morning Club of Los Angeles, in organizing the junior auxiliary of that club, and she is enthusiastically planning for making this branch of club organization as a regular part of the federation program.

This enthusiasm was most noticeable at the district board meeting last week, when a department for junior auxiliary work was formed under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, assisted by Mrs. Charles Pinegar.

To Reveal Plans

Recommendation is made that sub-chairmen be appointed in the various clubs and that wholehearted support and co-operation be given so that the auxiliaries may reach the maximum degree of service. Complying with this recommendation is the move under way in the Tuesday Afternoon club for the organization of a junior auxiliary and it is probable that complete plans will be made at the board meeting on Wednesday.

In presenting the matter to her district board Mrs. Toll said, "Most of you have not lived as long as I have and perhaps you did not go to school with a slate tied with a red and black cord, using a soapstone pencil. You didn't wait for the teacher's 'excellent' on top of the slate; for most of you used paper.

"Thinking along these lines reminds me that we all have a clean slate with which to start our work, each one hoping for success. Each one of us is in potentiality a leader, but we can not be good leaders without sincerity in our work. Our thought of success is not for ourselves personally but for the approval of the Great Teacher who overlooks our destinies.

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20.—Dollings, the Ku Klux, lower price of wheat, how women can seem younger (to other women) than they really are and, of course, the perennial pastime of politics, are the absorbing topics in Indiana these days, as Summer runs to meet the Fall.

Moonshine liquor — "white mule" they always call it in the Hoosier State—has always been a good conversational subject, like the awful state of the weather, but in the Pullman smoking compartments, on flying interurban cars, to chance acquaintances on the park bench and over the bridge table and golf greens the Klan has ousted "ole mule."

"Now I don't belong to the Klan myself, y'know," said the hairy individual from Brown County. "But the other night they burned one of them fiery crosses, and about a hundred thousand folks was there—Umhum, y'say you don't know much about the Ku Kluxers?

"Well, here's what I heered—" Excessive leaning over and whispering.

Right here in Indianapolis the Klan has run afoul of the city administration—they've stopped newsboys of the "Fiery Cross," the official Klan paper, from making speeches and abusing Mayor Lou Shank in connection with distribution of the publication.

Fiery crosses have been adjudged bonfires, although legal complications arose when an electric cross was brought out. Then the Klan is dickering to buy Valparaiso University, which is on the financial rocks.

Opponents of the Klan insist that the organization is trying to get a strangle hold on Indiana politics and to manipulate State policies in the interest of klansmen. Getting control of Indiana politics is no small job in these days. They play a funny brand of politics out here — certain and orthodox, like China's domestic policy.

Now as to politics proper, of course in the emergency, Indiana will have a candidate or two for President. The Democratic party is worked up to some heat of enthusiasm over Senator Sam Ralston, for whom they are contemplating a "favorite son" boom. Ralston is quite popular out here, although the Washington society editors were doubtful—on his election—as to what place he could be counted on to fill in exclusive capital society.

Senator Watson, popularly known as "Our Jim" in the Sixth District, is always a possibility, while former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, lately set back in the political closet by Senator Ralston, has his Republican friends.

For Governor several candidates "have been mentioned prominently," including Mayor Shank, who recently has devoted some time to his string of race horses.

The newspapers have become somewhat melodramatic in their discussions of the R. L. Dollings Company, which went into receivership, with more than $12,000,000 outstanding securities in Indiana. More than one widow, after collecting her insurance, sank her "mite" in Dollings, the newspapers indicate; but recent statements of Receiver McBride seem to indicate the preferred stockholders in Dollings proper and its subsidiaries may get back a fair share of their investments, losses to fall most heavily on Dollings common.

Farmers of Indiana, while not the sufferers from "dollar wheat," as are those in the real wheat belt west of the Mississippi, seeing the crops are much more diversified in the Hoosier State, nevertheless have been hard hit and are out early in the mornings looking for remedies.

Led by W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, arrangements are rapidly being perfected to pool wheat and other crops. Co-operative selling, aided by co-operative elevators for storing crops and assistance of the banks, are offering salvation to the agriculturists.

But the Indiana women, immortalized by Tarkington, Meredith Nicholson, Gene Stratton Porter and the other romancers of the Hoosier State—like the femininity of forty-seven other States—have only a passing interest in "dollar wheat" and the Klan. Their object is to outdress their neighbors, to wear their cosmetics with distinction and appear younger than they really are.

And that—'tis an art!

The Indiana method is nothing if not novel.

Woman in the ages between say thirty and fifty selects her friends with care, as a rule friends popularly believed to be about her age, then she treats them with respect and reverence, as befitting the attitude of youth toward age.

No more effective method has yet been discovered to effectively "tell the world" how young she is by comparison.

A SIMPLE VACATION SET

In the construction of any single circuit regenerative set, because of their ability to oscillate, it is difficult to operate them without interference with your neighbors. The set shown in the drawing, while it will oscillate very easily, can be so adjusted that it will bring in signals very good while not in that condition.

This set consists of a .001 microfarad variable condenser, either a vario-coupler or a variometer, two .001 microfarad fixed condensers, an audion detector with its usual accessories. The extra .001 fixed condenser is the only addition to the regular single circuit set. As shown, this is placed in the plate circuit.

If a variometer is used, the two windings where they are joined together, are connected to the ground. If the vario-coupler is used, one end of each coil is grounded.

It is suggested that good fixed condensers be used and not the paper kind as they are subject to changes. If a regular detector tube is used, a patentiometer should be used and placed in the circuit according to the dotted lines. This will increase the sensitiveness of this set a great deal, but will not help when an amplifier tube is being used.

Most of the tuning of this set is done with the variable condenser, but for maximum signal strength and elimination of interference, the more inductance (wire) you use on the primary coil and less value of condenser, the stronger will be the signals. If you are trying to pick up several stations, it is then better to use less values of inductance and more condenser. Then when you have located them, use more inductance and less condenser.

Most every fan will want a portable set this summer and this can be made into one very readily, especially if the new type of flat variable condenser is used. This resembles a thick dial and is just the thing for a compact portable set if a variometer is used as the tuning inductance.

Where tubes that can be run off dry cells are used, the batteries can be placed inside the cabinet by making it a little deeper and the only outside binding posts necessary are the aerial and ground connections. If you are near a stream or other body of water a wire can be run to it for a good ground. Have 15 or 20 feet of wire in the water or connect it to large piece of metal such as an old boiler or large zinc strip. The aerial can be connected to almost anything handy, such as trees, etc.

This set will give satisfaction and will be a welcome addition to the camp outfit if not too far from a large broadcasting station.

It must not be taken for granted that you can take any old set to camp and get good results, but on the other hand you do not have to have several stages of radio frequency amplification to enjoy concerts and the like from your regular broadcasting stations.

Good connections are one of the things to look after in any set but more especially one of the above type that does not have amplification to help boost up weak signals due to poor connections. One stage of amplification will materially increase the strength of signals on this set and two stages ought to operate a loud speaking device, providing the signals are received fairly strong on the detector. Where a power amplifier is used it will afford plenty of entertainment for all hands, but when you add a power amplifier to your set it makes it bulky and it can hardly be termed a convenient set to carry around with you.

Pointers

Radio sets can be mounted to harmonize with the rest of the furniture.

Local stations can easily be cut out with a two circuit set in order to copy out of town stations.

The low current consumption tubes will run off your battery a long time without having it recharged.

Jacks are not used in radio frequency to change from first to second step, etc.

If your set will bring in distant stations now, it will get them all in the fall.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNNY'S COASTER

"Hello there!" called the Fuzzy Fox to the Woozie Wolf, who stalked past the den of the Fox one day.

"Hello yourself," growled the Wolf who was not very polite. But, for that matter, neither was the Fox.

"What is it you want?" snarled the Wolf.

"I want you to help catch Uncle Wiggily and nibble his ears," went on the Fox, looking at his big, dusting brush of a tail to see if it had any feathers on; for he had just come home from trying to take a chicken from a farmer's yard. But there were no feathers on his tail.

"Now, there's no use talking," snapped the Wolf. "I am not going to help you catch Uncle Wiggily. It is of no use! We'll never get that rabbit!"

"Oh, yes we shall," laughed the Fox. "Listen! I have a new plan. You know how fond Uncle Wiggily is of Baby Bunty?"

"Yes, he likes the little rabbit girl very much. But what of that?"

"Well, the next time Uncle Wiggily goes out hopping with Baby Bunty we'll follow along behind, hiding in the bushes. Then we'll catch Baby Bunty and pull her tail. And when she calls for help Uncle Wiggily will rush back to save her and we'll get him."

"Hum!" said the Wolf. "It sounds like a good plan. I'll help you with it."

So the Fox and the Wolf watched for their chance to catch Baby Bunty and pull her tail.

"Of course, it's a very small tail," said the Fox, "but then we need give it only a very little pull."

"True enough," said the Wolf.

Now a few days after this, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along on top of a hill, he heard some one crying most sadly.

"Ha! That's trouble, and I must help," said the rabbit gentleman. Then, twinkling his pink nose and blinking his eyes, he looked and saw Baby Bunty with her little coaster wagon at the top of the hill.

"What is the matter, Baby Bunty? Why are you crying?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am crying because my little sidewalk scooter, or coaster, is broken," answered the little rabbit girl, "and I want to ride down hill on it."

"Oh, don't cry," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I'll fix your coaster for you. "Ah, I see," he went on as he looked at it. "One of the wheels is loose; I'll tighten it."

Now while Uncle Wiggily was mending Baby Bunny's scooter coaster, and the little rabbit girl was standing near by, watching, out of the bushes came the Fox and Wolf.

"Ah, this is our chance!" whispered the Fox. "We'll take Baby Bunty, carry her into the bushes and pull her tail. Uncle Wiggily will hear her cry out, he'll rush in to save her and we'll nibble his ears."

"Let's try it," agreed the Wolf.

So the two bad chaps crept up softly to catch Baby Bunty. But, just then, the rabbit gentleman had fixed the loose wheel of the coaster so that it was all right again.

"Come, Baby Bunty, try your scooter now," called Uncle Wiggily.

And then the Fox and Wolf jumped out of the bushes and cried:

"Come, Baby Bunty! Come with us!"

But the little rabbit girl turned and, giving the savage chaps one look, she shouted:

"Uncle Wiggily! Quick! Get on my coaster and ride yourself down the hill to get away from the Fox and Wolf! Get on my coaster!"

"But what about you?" askee Uncle Wiggily.

"I'll hop on behind! My coaster is strong enough to carry both of us!" laughed Baby Bunty. "Quick!"

Uncle Wiggily hopped up on the coaster. Baby Bunty hopped up behind him and gave the scooter a push. Down the hill went the rabbit gentleman and Baby Bunty.

"Come back! Come back!" howled the Fox and and Wolf at the top of the hill. But you may be sure the two rabbits didn't do this. Safely they coasted to the bottom of the hill.

"Hum!" snarled the Wolf as he and the hungry Fox went home. "I told you so!"

And if the gold fish doesnt' try to run along on the top of the back fence like a pussy cat, and fall off, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ice cream.

"CO-OPERATION OF ENGLISH-SPEAKING PEOPLES WILL BRING PEACE," SAYS AUSTRALIAN ENVOY

"Australia approves of the league of nations. The greatest thing that nation wants is peace. We want anything that will bring peace to the world and think that peace and stability will come from greater co-operation among the English-speaking peoples of the world. There also should be a greater community of interests between America and Australia, as there is between Australia and Great Britain."

So declares Donald Mackinnon, who has just taken up his duties in Washington as the new commissioner from Australia. He says further:

"We especially look to the people of the North American continent, because they have common interests with us in the Pacific, and we Australians believe that our destiny, and to a large extent the future of mankind, will depend upon development in and around the Pacific ocean. There is also a feeling that the people of the Pacific are very much in sympathy with each other and that the two branches of the Anglo-Saxon races will develop very much along the same lines. There is a marked similarity between the Californians and Australians. This is no doubt due to a large extent to climatic conditions.

"There is doubtless much interest in the United States regarding the determination of Australia to keep the commonwealth white. Personally, I am convinced that the overwhelming majority of Australians are in favor of retaining what is known as the white Australian policy. This is not only the policy of the worker, but it represents substantially the view of people of all classes.

Seeks Market for Surplus

"Australia is looking the world over for markets for its surplus production. This is the real practical question for Australia now. We are looking for industries which will help to develop our vast territory. We are looking not only to England, but to the great republic of America. For that reason we want the people of America to better understand us. We regard them as the most genuinely peace-loving people in the world, despite their great physical force, and we feel that, as a younger sister of the British race, we can look to them to co-operate in the advancement of universal peace. I have recently spent more than a year in Europe, having visited England, Germany, France and Italy, and I have seen something of the misery existing in those countries. I believe that the English-speaking people, whether in England or the United States, or in those growing British dominions, have it in their hands to build an edifice of peace which will be enduring. This especially applies to those who are removed from the center of trouble, such as Americans, Australians and Canadians."

Billy Whiskers

by Frances Trego Montgomery

In yesterday's story the Hooligan gang were coming toward the shed where Billy and Nannie were with a cart.

"So that is their game, is it? To hitch me up to a cart?" and Billy laughed softly to himself. "Nannie, my dear, you have seen other people try to make me pull them around in a cart, haven't you? And you have also seen what happened to them, and how they have gone home nursing their bruises and holding their heads, just because they have tried to hitch me up against my will. Well, in this case I am going to have a better revenge. I shall let them hitch me up good and strong, all the better for my purpose. Then I shall wait until they are all in the cart and nicely fixed. What happens next will depend on what I see or think of at the moment to give them the roughest time of their lives.

"You must follow on behind and see the fun. And if I at last break loose, don't lose sight of me for a minute, for I am never coming back here, but we shall continue our journey west as soon as I am through with these boys.

"Now, keep still and pretend we are asleep when they open the door. I will give them their first surprise in finding me as docile as a lamb. They expect to have me butt and hook. But oh, no! I shall not do that, and get clubbed, kicked and prodded with sharp nails. I am much too old a goat to be hurt for nothing. I shall just bide my time. And when the time comes they better pray for help as they never prayed before!"

The leader of the gang looked to the shed window but all he saw was two goats peacefully sleeping side by side. Then there was a shuffling of feet and the latch of the door was stealthily raised and in two seconds all the Hooligan gang was inside putting the harness on Billy as fast as they could.

Billy acted stupid and sleepy. Then when the harness was nearly all on, one boy gave him a kick and the ribs and called out:

"Get up, you lazy old goat, or I'll pull your beard!"

Billy's eyes blazed at that, but the boys did not notice.

(Tomorrow you'll see what a race Billy ran with the boys).

It makes no difference
If you are a queen;
You won't keep well
If you don't keep clean.

From the sanitarian's point of view, a half dozen country boys bathing in a creek, and a thousand city boys bathing in a tank, are quite different propositions.

Our national tobacco bill is almost a billion dollars a year.

A Fifth Anniversary

Today's Short Story by Ad Schuster

Raymond Tesniere was perhaps the loneliest man in Paris. At the annual ceremonies in which the shop girls of the city parade as evidence they would accept a proposal of marriage, nothing but his diffidence kept him from breaking through the lines as a suitor to the first at hand.

"It would be better to draw lots, to take a grab from the bag of fate, than to live alone where there is so much of gaiety. Why was I not given the gift to make friends? Why do I close up like an oyster whenever a lady is present?"

Then he thought of advertising in the newspapers. Visions came to him of scores of girls ringing on his bell. If they would march by the hundreds, surely thousands would avail themselves of the less conspicuous means. An advertisement would never do. So Raymond went back to the theatre where he was employed, looked from behind the scenes at a sentimental story being enacted, and felt worse than ever.

In the midst of the lonely man's perplexity came an astounding adventure.

"It is Raymond Tesnicre I seek." It was a woman's voice. "I wish to see him very much."

"He is busy. Who shall I say it is?"

"Tell him," the woman hesitated, "tell him it is his wife."

Raymond, for a moment, thought of hiding under his desk. Then he moved the telephone near. If this woman were mad he might need to summon help. She entered, a slim girl with appealing eyes.

"So you are my husband," she appraised him critically.

"I am Raymond Tesniere, but I have never seen you before in my life."

The girl laughed. "Isn't it ridiculous, for I have never seen you."

Raymond sighed with relief. "You realize, then, it is a mistake. There is another Tesniere. Yes?"

"No, you are he. We are man and wife, and I come to ask, if you please, for a divorce."

Then the explanation came. Four years before Raymond Tesniere had lost his pocketbook containing several cards of identity. Yes, he remembered. That was when his bad luck commenced. Well, another had found it, had taken the name and, in Toulon, had courted this girl.

"He made very pretty love and I accepted him," she said. "Then, when he got from my father the dowry, so little and yet so much, he run away. I am glad he is gone. But when I tried to free myself of a husband who is never a husband, I find by the French law I am married, not to this man but to Raymond Tesniere. You are my husband. It is you who must divorce me."

Here was but a start to Raymond's perplexities. Court scenes must follow. This would make good reading in the papers. Men would laugh at him, he might lose his position. "For four years," he moaned, "when I have been so lonely, I have been married. It is lucky I am not a bigamist."

The girl's eyes were on him.

"I'll do what I can."

They visited an attorney together. Pauline laughed when Raymond suggested charges might be necessary.

"I can say," she said, "you have been very cruel. Not once since my marriage until but now have you spoken to me."

A day was fixed in court and the two waited. Pauline intended to return to Toulon. This was taking longer than she expected, and Raymond sensed her resources were limited. He took her to dinner every day and frequently to lunch.

"It is funny," he mused, "our dining together while we wait for a divorce."

"Funny?"

"Well, I will tell you what I intend to do," he spoke boldly. "As soon as you are given a decree, the real Raymond Tesniere will propose to you."

"Do you wish a big ceremony?"

"No."

"Do you wish a large expense?"

"No."

She shrugged her shoulders and looked at him happily. "Well, then, my husband, let us go together and withdraw the case."

As they walked from the restaurant as happy as two children, the bride giggled as at a new thought.

"Do you know that tomorrow will be our fifth anniversary?"

TIMELY MODELS FOR THE YOUTHFUL

Of faultless style and practicality are these three playtime models. The little lady to the extreme left delights to wear a one-piece slip-on kimono of tan chambray. The closing is at the center of the back, and the narrow belt holds in only the sides and back, leaving the front in flat effect. Eight-year size requires 2½ yards 36-inch material for dress and bloomers.

Doggie may not be happy in his necktie, but Bobbie surely delights to wear the rompers of yellow gingham trimmed with dark blue mercerized cotton. The rompers close at the back and at the lower edges. A round collar and turn-back cuffs finish the neck and sleeves, while two little chickadees discuss the advantages of being appliqued in front view upon a kimono waist. Size requires 1¾ yards 36-inch material.

The bloomer dress to the right may be made entirely of one material, or two fabrics may combine to achieve its smartness. The dress is slashed and closed in the center-back, the neck being finished with a square collar. The front is in three sections being stitched to the front to form pockets. The motif may be embroidered in self-color or a darker tone of the same color. Medium size requires 3¾ yard 36-inch material.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1626. Sizes, 6 to 17 years. Price, 30 cents.

Second Model—Rompers No. 1617. Sizes, 1 to 5 years. Price, 25 cents. Applique No. 12672, blue or yellow transfer, 25 cents.

Thrid Model—Dress No. 1630. Sizes, 6 to 14 years. Price, 30 cents. Embroidery No. 12820. Blue or yellow transfer, 25 cents.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

ASTRINGENTS

Women who are clever about their complexions know that at this season of the year the skin needs a strong astringent treatment. In the winter the cold air acts as an astringent, stimulating the skin and bringing blood to its surface and toning up the lax muscles of the face. But the hot weather has no such effect.

Heat relaxes the muscles and opens the pores. And its chief value is that it makes the skin perspire and throw off a great deal of hidden dirt. For this reason the complexion at the end of the summer is apt to be clear, but with prominent pores.

There are any number of astringents. An excellent one is made by beating up the white of an egg with an egg-shell full of toilet vinegar. After the skin has been wiped over with cleansing cream a thin coating of the egg astringent should be rubbed on and allowed to dry. If you are more than thirty, lie down with eyes closed, thoroughly relaxed. Such relaxation gives the egg a better chance to draw up the sagging muscles around the mouth. Let this astringent stay on for half an hour, wash off with warm water and massage the skin with a little cream.

Bay rum, slightly diluted with water or witch hazel undiluted are both excellent astringents to use on the face after it has been washed. Toilet water or toilet vinegar sprayed on the face with an automizer is also very stimulating.

Another excellent astringent is cold salt water, fairly strong, used as a final rinse after washing the face. Still another astringent is a solution of benzoin and water, benzoin being added until the water is thick and milky looking. This can be kept in a bottle and wiped over the face after it has been washed.

Queenie—The swimming that you are anxious to accomplish is the exactly exercise that you should take to reduce all this accumulated fat over your thighs and and knees.

G. K. W.—When using an astringent, if the skin is inclined to dryness, follow it up by feeding the skin with a very little bit of oil or a cream. This tendency has nothing to do with the choice of an astringent.

A Daily Reader—The darkened shade of your hair was natural and must be more suited to you than the flaxen tint of your babyhood.

These days the skin needs astringents

It is such an excellent thing to wear sandals during the hot weather, that you are favored in being able to follow this habit.

Boiled Dressing for Eggs and Vegetable Salads: "Put in the top of a double boiler three tablespoons of vinegar, two tablespoons of sugar, one tablespoon of butter and one-half teaspoon of salt; heat them, then add one tablespoon of dry mustard mixed with one tablespoon of cornstarch and two beaten egg yolks. Remove from fire after a few minutes of cooking, let cool slightly, and fold into the mixture two stiffly whipped egg whites and one-half cup of cream. Keep this dressing in a pint-size preserve jar in your ice box. It is also delicious in sandwiches, mixed with minced raw onion, minced cooked ham, or any other good sandwich filling."—(Contributed by Mrs. E. K.)

Beefsteak "Pudding": "Sift one and one-half cups of bread flour with three-fourths of a teaspoon of baking powder and one teaspoon of salt. Mix these dry ingredients with one cup of grated suet, one-half pound of beef kidneys cut small, one pound of round steak put through a meat grinder and salt and pepper to suit individual liking. Tie all in a piece of floured cloth wrung out of cold water and drop the little bag into a large saucepan containing boiling water. Be sure the water is boiling well before you drop in the 'pudding,' and let it continue to boil up around the pudding for two hours before serving. This makes a good meal for the working man or woman, as it is full of nourishment and is 'filling.' "—(Contributed by a Reader Friend.)

How to Broil Chicken: Sunday's menu will call for "broilers." This is a delicious dish. Although the birds may be cooked entirely under a flame there is so much danger of burning that many housewives prefer to cook them partially in the oven, perhaps for fifteen or twenty minutes, before broiling them. To dress for broiling, singe, wipe and, with a sharp-pointed knife, beginning at back of neck, make a cut the entire length of the bird through the backbone; lay the bird open and remove contents from inside. Cut out rib bones on either side of backbone, remove from breastbone, then cut through tendons at joints (this makes the chicken easier to eat). Sprinkle the bird with salt and pepper and place it in a greased pan, skin side down. Dot over with bits of butter. After twenty minutes in your oven, broil to finish cooking, turning when done on one side.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

GET RID OF THE HUSKS

It was a hot day, the sort of day when desultory chatter is all the exertion one cares to make in the line of conversation. My neighbor's son, a lad of 12, joined his mother and me on the beach.

"I've just been reading a dandy story," he declared. "It was all about a man . . ."

My heart sank. "Now," I thought to myself, "we are in for one of those wordy, garbled tales that are so hard to follow and so uninteresting second hand." But, to my surprise, the boy summed up for us in a few carefully chosen words the plot of a most interesting story and he did it so well that I forgot the heat in listening.

After he had left us for a plunge in the breakers I expressed my surprise and pleasure to his mother. "Few grown-ups could have done that better. What an unusual gift he has for narration."

She Wanted Some Credit

"If it is a gift," she remarked dryly, "please give me the credit for presenting it to him."

And at my look of inquiry she added: "I suppose you think it strange that I should appear to detract from the compliment you have paid him, but people sometimes fail to realize that traits they admire in a child have doubtless been drilled in with pains and patience by someone at home. Only yesterday the mother of a really disagreeable boy said to me petulantly: 'I don't know what you would do if you had a high-strung boy like my John to bring up. Your boy has a naturally easy-going disposition.' I think I'm the best judge of how natural my boy's 'easy-going disposition' is.

"However, that's another story. About this matter of narrating well. I determined that my children should not grow up into bores like Coleridge's notorious wedding guest. And so I have taught them to see the point of a story and to take it out and present it neatly like the kernels from a nut. We practice sometimes, evenings, telling stories or anecdotes to each other."

Wasn't that a fine idea?

Grown-ups Need It, Too

As I thought of it afterward it seemed to me that that mother has given a unique and valuable gift to her children. One which many of us would do well to cultivate even though we are no longer children. Watch yourself and see how many useless shells and husks you can strip from the meat of the facts you are presenting.

One very common "husk" is this, told by Mrs. M.: "The bell rang and when I went to the door and a man was standing there and he said, 'Is this Mrs. M.?' and I said, 'Yes, this is Mrs. M.' "

Who else could it be? And yet this absurd preliminary marks many a related incident.

"As I Was Saying to the Wife"

Another superfluous comment is furnished by the man who always advances any opinion with, "I was saying to the wife yesterday . . ." One gets the idea that all his opinions are first tried out on "the wife" (an expression that I detest), and the fact adds nothing to his statement.

Unless you are particularly adept at drawing word pictures, avoid elaborate descriptions of your new frock. "A lovely, flame colored, clinging fabric" gives a more vivid idea of an evening gown than one would get, lost in the mazes of "pipings up here, and ruffles across there, and funny little what-you-call-'ems trimming the girdle."

If you would enjoy the reputation of clever raconteur, watch yourself for these redundant and verbose habits of speech.

As my neighbor's son would say, "Make it snappy!"

Tomorrow—Sweet (?) and Twenty.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Scurvy

Scurvy is not uncommon in babies and children who have been fed on boiled or pasteurized or canned milk and have not had any fresh foods containing the anti-scorbutic vitamin in their diets. Scurvy can also develop in adults on deficient diets, as I told you when I discussed vitamins, and it is probable that many adults are on the verge of it.

About the first symptom of scurvy is tenderness of the bones and muscles. The baby shows by crying that it is painful for him to be touched. He is pale and loses weight. Later his gums are swollen and spongy and he has hemorrhages underneath the mucous membrane of the mouth. The tendency to breaking of the blood vessels and hemorrhages, both in the tissue and externally, is one of the characteristics of the disease. Later scurvy may cause a form of paralysis.

The cure is simple—like a miracle! It consists simply in giving orange juice or strained tomato juice, fresh or canned; or, if these cannot be secured, fresh cabbage juice. Begin with one teaspoonful, diluted, and gradually increase to two or more tablespoonsful daily. If the child has been having canned milk, get fresh milk for it if possible. The pasteurized or the boiled milk had best be continued if it is doubtful as to its cleanliness and freedom from disease germs.

It is better, by far, to prevent scurvy, of course. And the prevention is the same as the treatment.

Rickets (Rachitis)

The exact cause of rickets is not known. We know that dietary deficiencies can cause it, and we also know that even when apparently adequate diets are given, rickets will develop when there is a lack of sunshine and fresh air. Bottle-fed babies are more subject to rickets than breast-fed babies.

In rickets, the entire organism is affected, the nerves may show their irritation by producing apathy or irritability, the muscles are flabby and the ligaments loose. The abdominal muscles are lax, producing the prominent "pot belly" (all babies are a little pot bellied, but this never would be confused with that of rickets). The lime and phosphorus or hardening minerals are not deposited normally in the bones and they become bent and knobby. If severe, the deformities may last throughout life.

Rickets is more likely to develop during the winter months. This is because babies are not out in the sunshine so much then, and because the cows' milk and human milk is less rich in Vitamin A, due to the fact that less of the green foods which furnish the vitamins are taken.

Dr. Alfred Hess, who has had extensive experience in the study and treatment of rickets, advises pure cod liver oil for babies during the winter months as early as the end of the first month. He advises beginning with five drops a day and increasing a drop a day until one or two teaspoonsful are taken. It can be taken after a feeding or between feedings. Dr. Richard Dennett, another eminent child specialist (pediatrist), believes that cod liver oil is just as necessary for all babies as is orange juice, and he gives it throughout the year, summer and winter.

Colored babies—possibly because the pigment in the skin prevents the beneficial sun rays from penetrating—are more liable to rickets than white babies. In the colored section of New York Dr. Hess found that cod liver oil given to these babies very markedly reduced the cases of rickets among them.

You can consider cod liver oil as a food, mothers—a food rich in Vitamin A, which prevents rickets and certain inflammations of the eye, and promotes growth.

Don't forget the sunlight either.

Poems That Live

A CANADIAN BOAT-SONG

Faintly as tolls the evening chime
Our voices keep tune and our oars keep time,
Soon as the woods on shore look dim,
We'll sing at St. Anne's our parting hymn,
Row, brothers, row, the stream runs fast,
The rapids are near and the daylight's past!

Why should we yet our sail unfurl?
There is not a breath the blue wave to curl;
But, when the wind blows off the shore,
Oh! sweetly we'll rest our weary oar,
Blow, breezes, blow, the stream runs fast,
The rapids are near and the daylight's past.

Ottawa's tide this trembling moon
Shall see us float over thy surges soon,
Saint of this green isle! hear our prayers,
Oh, grant us cool heavens and favoring airs,
Blow, breezes, blow, the stream runs fast,
The rapids are near and the daylight's past!

—Thomas Moore.

There is not fatigue in doing well.

Just one in a hundred
Gets rich, so I'm told;
So, then, there is nothing
In hoarding your gold:
As a matter of fact
There isn't much fun
In betting on wealth
At a hundred to one.

tutes the family of success: the father is work, the mother is ambition; the oldest son is common sense and the brothers are perseverance, enthusiasm, co-operation and foresight; the oldest sister is character; other sisters are cheerfulness, loyalty, carefulness, economy, harmony and sincerity; the baby of the family is opportunity. I advise you to get acquainted with the old man of the family and then you will get along with the rest."

According to Mrs. Toll, the junior auxiliary gives youth a chance for expression that it could not otherwise enjoy. Likewise it makes a place for the college graduate, who, upon leaving the environment of the campus, and separated from the friends she has made in her college days, often faces a problem in the choice of new friends and occupations.

The resolution adopted, pertaining to the junior auxiliary, is as follows:

Text of Resolution

"We believe there should be uniform purpose and guiding principles in the formation of these junior organizations, therefore be it resolved: That the purpose of each organization shall be two-fold: Training for the finest type of club women and advancement in all lines of general culture of the younger women of the community. That each organization have as an advisory board three members from the parent club; that social welfare work be an incorporated department and that parliamentary drill and self-expression be given consideration. That use of the clubhouse, age of admittance to auxiliary and to club, dues to organization, frequency of meetings, etc., be decided by local organizations. That clubs sponsoring these auxiliary leagues give every possible opportunity for the league to profit by the contact with club life, and foster, in every way possible, the highest ideals of existence. That the pledge of loyalty used by the first junior club organization in the United States, that of the Contemporary club of Redlands be recommended: 'I pledge my loyalty to the Junior Auxiliary by doing better whatever I have to do; by being prompt, honest and courteous; by living each day trying to accomplish something, not merely to exist, and, above all, by believing that it pays to know the truth and to follow it.' We believe that in founding junior auxiliaries on these principles the federation will be definitely working toward making not only a fine type of future club woman, but what is more, a fine type of womanhood."

SMILERS TO PAY BOOKLET'S COST

Open Campaign to Reimburse Chamber of Commerce for Advertising

The campaign of the Mystic Smilers to reimburse the Chamber of Commerce for the cost of issuing the attractive booklet recently circulated in large numbers is well under way, according to David S. Preston, a Smiler and Chamber of Commerce director.

Should the Smilers raise sufficient funds to pay the cost of issuing this booklet, they will receive 10 per cent above said cost, as their share, which sum will go toward clearing off the indebtedness on the Smiling piano.

Among those who have already contributed are J. D. Radcliff, F. C. Tillson, D. S. Preston, A. G. Graham, Harry Klein, R. W. Colburn, M. E. Gilbert.

The Security Trust & Savings Bank, the Farmers' & Merchants' Bank and the Burbank State Bank are authorized to accept subscriptions to this fund. Copies of the booklet may be obtained at these banks.

Goodfellows' Blowout

Efforts are going to be made to raise the roof of the new Goodfellows' hall Tuesday night, August 21, when, according to Mr. Cruze, who has taken an active part in reorganizing the club, a big house-warming will be given.

Friends and families of members will be present and contribute to the merriment, and it is just probable that there may be a lettuce sandwich or two distributed, if the commissary department continues to make the coin the way it has the past few days.

The Reds and the Blues have succeeded in their membership drive beyond the fondest hopes of the officers, according to Mr. Cruze.

No C. of C. Secretary Yet

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has not yet selected an executive secretary to succeed R. W. Colburn, recently resigned. At their last meeting they decided to have Mrs. Marie Trapani Swift, who had been Mr. Colburn's assistant, continue in the office at present, as secretary pro tem. Her salary was accordingly raised from $80 to $100 per month.

The several applications for this office have been tabled for the time being and will not be taken up again until it has been learned from the membership of the chamber at large what is their desire in the matter.

R. W. Colburn has been selected to head the entertainment committee at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, Tuesday night, August 21, at the Sunset Canyon Country Club.

President Riley will deliver the address of welcome at this gathering, to which Burbank is playing host. The business meeting will be presided over by B. R. Holloway of Van Nuys, president of the association.

R. W. Colburn has been elected to the advertising committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, where he takes his place alongside Messrs. Coffman and Jackson.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Upon the statement of Agent Whalen, of the Children's society, that Frank Stinplof, 38, of 244 West Nineteenth street, would beat his daughter, Lena, 9, with a large stick for the slightest infraction of discipline, the father was yesterday taken into custody charged with felonious assault.

EAGLE ROCK

WILL ERECT TWO MORE BUNGALOWS

Additional Facilities Will Afford More Room for School Students

Two new bungalows will presently be erected on the grounds at the Eagle Rock school, formerly the Central school, the materials for these bungalows having been delivered on the grounds.

While it is regrettable that these grounds must be further cramped by the new construction, nevertheless it is a relief to know that better facilities will be offered this fall for the education of the growing number of children forced to use this school, parents feel.

One bungalow was also delivered to the East End school, where it will relieve the congestion somewhat.

These bungalows are the result of the local board's economy last year. When Eagle Rock went into Los Angeles, there was $5000 in the treasury. The Los Angeles Board of Education promptly designated this sum to be used for the purchase of portable school-room-bungalows, it being the only relief they could afford the community at that time, as their appropriations for the year had already been made.

Playground Crowded

It is believed that next year conditions will be further remedied, particularly with respect to the Eagle Rock school, where the playground will be so full this fall that the children will be crowded out into the streets.

A committee of representatives from every local organization in the community will be formed, to keep Eagle Rock's school needs before the Los Angeles Board of Education and see that the welfare of the children is guarded, as the situation is recognized as being serious and fraught with danger.

The new supervisor of the Eagle Rock school playground, Miss Dever, is on duty daily from 1 until 7 o'clock in the afternoon, every day but Sunday, and the Parent-Teacher association of that school assures parents their children are safe when they are in Miss Dever's hands.

G. M. Frazier and family, of 241 North Acacia avenue, have been spending their vacation at Leguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and son, of Los Angeles have moved into the new duplex they just bought of C. E. Slaght on Rowland avenue.

Mrs. Graves is visiting with her mother in Placentia, California.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Commons of HMighland avenue, have been entertaining Mr. Benjamin and Miss Benjamin, of Clinton, Ill.

Mrs. Arion Putnam, of Hill and Paloma avenues, is spending the summer at Leguna Beach.

Mrs. Fred Hannaford spent last week at the Bryden ranch at Pomona. With her were her son and daughter, Frederick and Marjory, and her young nephew, Clark Richardson.

Ground will shortly be broken for the new Eagle Rock Congregational church, on the grounds occupied by the present building, whilh will remain as it now is. Work on the Parish house and Sunday school will be completed before work on the new church is begun, according to the building committee.

Bandit's Widow to Pay Honor to House

LIBERTY, Mo., Aug. 20. — Jesse James' horse is going to have a monument erected in its honor.

Mrs. Frank James, widow of one of the famous bandit brothers, made arrangements today to erect a suitable memorial to "Dan," famous thoroughbred Arabian, noted for speed and beauty, which her husband rode in the notorious raids. "Dan" was a son of "Betsy," the favorite horse of Jesse James. "Betsy' will also be remembered in the memorial.

"Dan" died last week at Kearney, Mo., where his master was born and reared, and where he spent the remaining years of his life after being pardoned from prison.

That's All

Great Interest In Sports
Mob Violence Must Go
Hammering Our Hiram
Beautiful Mosquito Land

By Gil A. Cowan

THE warmer the weather the more interest evinced in baseball and other sports. On Saturday the wires were all "cluttered up" with sport news, and the Sunday morning papers looked as though the sport soviet had usurped the editorial rooms.

Fortunately, however, we have the sporting events to rely upon to intrigue the interest of a large share of the readers. And almost everyone is interested in one or more activities of the sporting world, as witness the crowds at the ball games, the attendance at boxing shows and the great number of golf followers.

America is becoming the greatest athletic country in the world, it would appear, perhaps because all the experts in the defunct European nations are hurrying here to get in the midst of our prosperity.

While we read with avidity of the chaos in Germany, of the renewed fighting in Ireland and of other troubles in the world, only passing thought is given to mob violence which is disgracing the states of Oklahoma and Georgia.

The United States government, in case the state governments fail, could accomplish no better object than to forever rid this country of those individuals who practice mob violence. They strike at the very heart of the constitution when they set forth to take the law in their own hands.

When newspapers of the Middle West and East run out of wild stories about film folks in Southern California, and when they have commented copiously on the Los Angeles police situation and all of the other evil things which their consumptive minds can consider, they proceed to turn their guns on Hiram Johnson, quoting liberally from the one Los Angeles and one San Francisco newspapers which have been subsidized by the interests afraid of California's senior senator.

Well, we sit back and consider the source. And, reading between the lines, we see it is only natural that Nebraska editors without any outstanding member in congress should be jealous. The same is true with the Dakotas and several other states we could mention.

But Iowa has its Smith Brookhart, Minnesota has Magnus Johnson, Wisconsin has La Follette, Idaho has Bill Borah and Missouri has Jim Reed. They are people who command admiration in the same way as Hiram Johnson, for they are men who do not represent the interests.

And the public hears about it, too, in the subsidized press of the country. Some day editors will learn there is more money in an independent policy than playing for political patronage or accepting the benefits of some great corporation. Also, there is more satisfaction when you can speak good words of the best man.

Almost daily there are reports of some Glendale residents going to Canada to see Lake Louise. Read what an eastern contemporary has to say:

"It requires a visit to a mosquito-plagued country to realize how much has been done locally and in almost all parts of the United States to rid the summer of this dangerous pest. Canada is mosquito-filled, and little effort has apparently been made to remedy the trouble.

"Even such delightful summer resorts as Banff and Lake Louise are made less pleasant by the prevalence of the stinging insect, while long spaces in western Canada, where the Columbia river is found in its source, the number and viciousness of the mosquitoes pass description.

"This same district is filled with deserted villages and whole districts seem to have been abandoned at one time. Part of this was doubtless due to the gradual logging off of all the best timber in the vicinity, but part of it may have been caused by mosquitoes. Certainly life could have little worth while where winter holds fast for nine months and where summer is made doubly miserable by the presence of millions of mosquitoes."

Coolidge Decides to Take Daily Canter

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 20. —President Coolidge has decided, it is understood today, to add horseback riding to his recreation. Since coming here to assume the presidency, he has been so engaged with affairs that he has had to content himself with a walk about Washington in the early hours of the day.

Today his walk took him to the White House stables. There he selected a big chestnut bay named General for his own use, and in the future is likely to be seen riding, as he is understood to have favored this form of amusement while on his father's Vermont farm this summer.

Golf does not thus far seem to be included in the Coolidge program of relaxations.

Mrs. Waite of Wyoming, accompanied by her mother, arrived from her home to make her future home, at least for the time being, with her son, Louis A. Waite, at Sunland. Mr. Waite is engaged in the amusement promotion business there.

Miss Clark of Tujunga spent part of last week in Los Angeles as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Tujunga Community church gave an ice cream social on the church grounds Thursday evening. Music was furnished by the Christian Endeavor orchestra, the members being Joyce Farr, Catherine James, Mabel Elsey, Harriet Farr, Loren Scoville and Elbert Johnson. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, coffee, pie and punch were enjoyed by a large gathering of friends and neighbors. A social of similar nature is planned by the Aid society for every two weeks during the remainder of the summer season.

Miss Grace Walker has returned to her home in Tujunga. She had been attending summer school.

Mrs. Pratt has been entertaining her friend, Mrs. Lela E. Tribbey of Minneapolis at her home, Casa de Reposo.

Musicians New Residents

William Maggenette and family are established in Mr. Pratt's new cottage at 211 Greeley street. Mr. Maggenette has been with the Mission Players as a musician for three seasons. Mrs. Maggenette is also a talented musician. They expect to remain in Tujunga until after the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. H. B. Tilton has returned home from a visit with relatives in Chicago.

Mrs. Mary J. Theobald has arrived for a visit with her stepson, Dr. E. T. Theobald, president of the Tujunga Valley Realty board. Her home is in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Buck of Alder drive recently entertained as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Kipling Cotherine and son Richard of Oakland. Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Cotherine were schoolmates in high school at Roxbury, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark White of Stevens Way have been entertaining as their house guests for the past three weeks Mrs. White's brother, Floyd A. Peet and Mrs. Peet and son Arno and daughter, Anita, of Manchester, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Ensign Woodruff of El Centro street enjoyed a visit at their home recently with Mrs. Woodruff's cousin, Mrs. J. Randall and husband of Hollywood. Mr. Randall is secretary of the Editorial Association.

James L. Smith has returned home from Randsburg and is improving his place on Grand View avenue.

Entertains Guests

Assisted by Mrs. James Robbins, Mrs. W. T. Johnson recently entertained at the former's home on Paloma Trail in honor of Clementina Johnson, her daughter, who celebrated her first birthday anniversary. Miss Clementina received many gifts as remembrances from friends and relatives. Mrs. Robbins is her aunt. Refreshments of ice cream, bon bons, punch and cake were served to the following guests: Mrs. W. M. Morgan, Miss Frances Morgan, Mrs. William H. Gale and infant son, Mrs. H. D. Johnson, Mrs. H. L. Harvey and daughter Audrey Isabel, Mrs. Frank Buck, Mrs. E. L. Sweet, Mrs. Addison Wells, Mrs. Good, Mrs. Ivy of La Crescenta, and Mrs. James Robbins and young son, James Francis.

Mr and Mrs. Jack Clark of Los Angeles visited friends inTujunga Friday evening.

R. O. Johnson of Long Beach has returned to his home there after a two weeks' sojourn in Tujunga.

Go to Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hoppe, who were recently married in Hollywood, have gone to Chicago to make their home, after spending some time in Tujunga. Mr. Hoppe had been visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm. Mrs. Hoppe was formerly Miss Esther Nelson of Fort Dodge, Iowa. Before leaving for the east Mr. Hoppe purchased property on El Centro street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Grimm have been entertaining during the past week at their home on Hayes street, Mrs. Florence Lindsey, Mrs. Anna Plaster, Mrs. Mary West and Miss Flores, all of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Barton and two daughters, Edith and Estelle, have returned to their home in El Paso, Texas, after a time spent in Tujunga.

Mrs. Forster of Tujunga and Mrs. Bragg of Pittsburg, Pa., and Mrs. P. J. Blake and son Robert visited Catalina Island for an outing recently.

C. H. Askerns and family have taken the house at 148 South Monte Vista boulevard and will make their home there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wilson have left for the Yosemite valley. They are building on their property on Walnut drive.

Baker's barbecue on Michigan avenue was the scene of a little family dinner party recently when Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ries, Mr. and Mrs. William Ries, Miss Grace Ries, Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Hedges, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Allison met there and enjoyed some of the specialties served.

CAREFUL, FOLKS! NUMBERS CHANGE

Phone Company Patrons Asked to Use New Books in Calling

Beginning Saturday, August 18, the old memory system of calling telephone numbers went into the discard, with the issue of the new directories that went into effect on that date. The immense number of changes that have been made in the phone numbers of the Southern California Home Telephone Company's system, caused largely by the re-naming of the exchanges, has caused a complete revision of the directory, and many of the old numbers with which phone users have grown familiar are superseded by new numbers and exchanges.

The list of numbers in the separate directory issued for Glendale and adjacent towns shows a remarkable increase in the number of names listed and this increase renders it more than ever obligatory on telephone users to make sure that they have the right number before calling up, as failure to do so will likely delay the completion of the connection and cause dalay and irritation along the line.

New Exchange Names

This care in looking up the right number is especially needed in calling Los Angeles numbers, where the names of exchanges that have been in use in the past have, in several cases, been superseded by new designations, and anyone calling the old number will have to go back and start all over again when the girl at the switchboard tells him that the number he wants is out of date and that he will have to look up the right number in the August 18 directory.

Firms whose numbers have been changed under the new system are also warned to check up and make sure that they are quoting the right numbers in their business correspondence or in their advertising.

Panic as Lightning Hits Car; Eight Hurt

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—In a wild scramble to escape from a one-man trolley car at Midland Beach, Staten Island, after it had been struck by a bolt of lightning, eight passengers, three of them women, were injured.

No one was hurt by the bolt, which struck the generator of the car and extinguished the lights. All the passengers in the crowded car were thrown into a panic.

There was a blinding flash as the lightning struck during the heavy downpour.

Women were trampled on in the panic that resulted. Several men jumped through the windows, while others fought frantically to get to the doors.

Policemen on duty at the beach sent hurry calls to the Staten Island and St. Vincent's hospitals. Eight persons, three of them women, were treated for cuts and bruises and shocks. Only one, however, was in such a condition as to be removed to the hospital.

WILL OPEN CAFE ON OCTOBER 1ST

High Class Confectionery to Open in Location at 108 East Broadway

The establishment of another high class confectionery and cafe in Glendale is assured by the announcement this morning that F. M. Edwards, proprietor of the Caramel Shop and factory, 800 South Main street, Los Angeles, and George B. Dennis, who has been with Roberts & Echols, 102 East Broadway, since the first of this year, have formed a partnership and have taken a long lease on the premises at 108 East Broadway, where they plan to install the most modern dining room and candy house in the city.

Mr. Dennis will be the active manager of the cafe, a position for which he is well fitted by his years of experience in the catering business. He is known to Glendale people as the originator of The Covered Wagon and many other dainties that have been served over the Roberts & Echols counter during the time he has been employed there, and he will bring to the work of his own firm a wealth of new ideas that will be presented in concrete form for the delectation of the patrons of the new establishment, which will open about October 1.

Beauty to be Keynote

The dining room will have a seating capacity of 115 people, and will be finished in a manner that will reflect the most refined taste in interior decorating, a place where beauty and a restful atmosphere will combine to make the new cafe a place in which Glendale can take pride. Several of the leading decorators of the Southland are now working on schemes to be submitted to Mr. Dennis and Mr. Edwards, who will decide shortly on the plans that are to be worked out in the decoration of the new cafe.

The kitchen will be equipped with the latest and most modern fittings, and it also will be one of the show features of the establishment, where the food will be prepared by expert chefs under conditions that will insure perfect sanitation in every respect. Several of the ideas that will be incorporated in the kitchen are said to be ahead of anything that has yet been seen in Glendale, and Mr. Dennis, in his search for everything that will appeal to Glendale people, has been inspecting every new cafe and confectionery within a fifty-mile radius of Glendale for months past.

Make Own Candies

In the candy department, the firm will manufacture all of its own sweets, devoting special attention to furnishing a variety that will be unsurpassed in any similar establishment in Southern California, and a line that will receive the undivided attention of Mr. Dennis, will be the catering to lodges, clubs and similar organizations, and the preparation of frozen dainties and special offerings that will tempt the palates of Glendalians.

Several new ideas are being adopted in the new fountain that is to be installed, and this department also will, it is claimed, set a new standard for Glendale.

The fixtures that are to be installed will cost close to $15,000, and other expenses will run the cost of the new cafe well up to $20,000 before the opening date. Work on the building will commence tomorrow, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible, in order to keep to the tentative opening date that has been already set. All the work on the new cafe will be done under the supervision of Charles L. Jenkins, 1614 West Fourth street, and wherever possible the supplies needed and the labor to be employed in the work will be secured in the local market.
